Their mission? Projects for raising club revenue

MOKENA — Members of the Zodiac Club, operated by the Mokena Youth Commission, are looking for jobs to earn money to aid the commission. Money is needed to help support the summer activities and expenses of the Zodiac Club, according to David Morlan, recently appointed as a commissioner.

The teens are looking for any jobs they can find, including the clean up of yards. Last week four members of the youth group got a $25 check from John and Evelyn Cernauskas, who operate the Country Kettle on Wolf Road — spreading crushed stone in parking areas, front and rear. The quartet was made up of Debbie Pierson, Kathy Gorman, Charles Goebig and Marlan.

The two girls were swinging shovels like old hands and accomplished the task with neatness and dispatch.

Voters pick new board members

NEW LENOX — Lincoln-Way area grade school boards will organize for the coming year this week when they meet for the first time after the annual election of last Saturday. After votes are canvassed those elected will be seated and officers chosen.

There were contests in three of the Lincoln-Way area districts: New Lenox, Manhattan and Summit Hill.

At New Lenox Grade School District Mrs. Ruth Stoneberger, incumbent, 392 votes, and Ralph W. Attaway, 325 votes, were elected to three-year terms. The only other candidate was Dennis Vally, who received 231 votes.

At Manhattan Grade School District Fred Richards, incumbent, 170 votes, and Robert Snyder, 60 votes, were elected to three-year terms. The other candidate for the full term, Gary Kimbro, received 67 votes. Clifford Clark was elected to an unexpired term of one year. He polled 181 votes.

Summit Hill Grade School District voters elected John Hayden, an incumbent, and William Haas for three-year terms. Haas received 130 votes, Hayden 107. There were two other candidates, Edward Levenson, 56 votes, and Thomas M. Heimlich, 79.

There were also five write-in votes. Joyce Bluth received three and Edna Wigel and Michael Zacata one each.

Members of the Lincoln-Way High School board whose terms expired this spring, were all re-elected. Three were elected for three-year terms, and George E. Sangmeister, who was appointed to the board several months ago, was elected to serve out an unexpired term of one year.

Sangmeister received 868 votes. Re-elected for three-year terms and their vote totals are: Dr. Robert L. Keener, Frankfort, 1,002; Daniel Mathews, New Lenox, 968; and James Fagan, Mokena, 960. Sangmeister also resides in Mokena.

For the Frankfort Grade School board three incumbents were re-elected to three-year terms: Melvin Eisenbrandt, 63; James Knippel, 59, and Frederick Thompson, 55. Ronald Ball, who polled 59 votes, was elected to an unexpired term of one year.

In Mokena Grade School District Fremont Warning, incumbent, was re-elected with 161 votes; Filling the other three-year term will be Jens W. Notestein, who polled 155 votes. Elected to fill out a term with a year to run was Cadet Cottingham, 142 votes.

In the Joliet Junior College election the Grundy County incumbent A. Allen Holler was defeated. Also defeated were Edward M. Verklan and John W. Donahue. Elected were Clark J. Kennedy, a black and a teacher at the Junior college and Lewis College, and Victor Scott, an incumbent.

Kennedy, whose name was on top, received 8,119 votes and Scott, 7,733. Holler's vote was 7,100, Verklan's 5,525 and Donahue's 3,119.

The Joliet Junior College District includes all of Grundy, most of Will and some of Kendall County. The board started out as a representative affair but observers say that in time all of the board members will come from Will County.

If Kennedy is to serve on the board he must resign from the college faculty before April 16 when the board meets.

According to the state school law, a teacher can't serve on the board of the school in which he teaches.

In the Homer Grade School District 33 Lawrence Berg, 204 votes, and John S. Cain, 290 votes, were elected to three-year terms. The other candidate, Victor B. Fotos, received 71 votes.

Devcon discusses plant

NEW LENOX — A pre-annexation agreement with Devcon Corporation, headed by Sanger Westphal, Joliet, was discussed by the New Lenox village board at its meeting last Wednesday night but there was no action taken. Really, no action was expected as the agreement is still in rough form.

Before the final draft comes before the board, it was said, the measure will be considered again by the plan commission. The development proposed by Devcon involves an 80 acre tract south of Laraway Road east of Gougar Rd. and in the vicinity of Nelson Rd.

In the course of the discussion on the sewage disposal plant Devcon plans to build and turn over to the village, Bill Bolker, New Lenox contractor who has gone in for large scale developments, asked if the plant would be available to other property owners. He was told there could be tap-ons to the mains or main could be built that would connect with the plant, the fees to be worked out later. Bolker's interest is that he has 300 acres across Laraway road which is to be developed.

If these plans are carried out it is probable that the village will have an investment in the new disposal plant. As of now the figure spoken of is about $25,000.

Before the pre-annexation agreement is finally presented to the village board for action there will have been public hearings on all the provisions.

In other business to come before the board there was a discussion of drainage problems on Forest Street, west of N. Cedar Road. Terry Small, a resident of Forest, who came before the board at its last March meeting, was there again

Wednesday night, accompanied by neighbors. They complain that after heavy rains, water backs into their basements and at time they get sewerage too. When this condition arises, Small said, it is impossible to use the sanitary facilities at his home, and others had the same story.

A Kimber Lane resident complained that sewage was in the overflow of surface water in that area.

Victor Avon, head of maintenance in the village, told the board there were no downspouts connected with the sanitary sewer mains on Forest. He was instructed to make a check of the entire area to the north to ascertain if there are any violations there.

Under state law and village ordinance roof and surface water is not supposed to be diverted into sanitary sewers. There are penalties for such violations. The ground is too wet now for smoke tests but it was pointed out at the meeting that any downspout that goes into the ground is a violation of this law. Avon is to check and report back on any violations.

Mayor Hartung told the complainants that this drainage problem was not to be solved overnight, with which they agreed, but he said the village was doing its best to find a remedy, for this and other problems, and something would be done.

Someone in the audience suggested that sump-pumps are probably great offenders in filling sanitary sewers with surface water.

Trustee Jack Batson reported that Troop 49, Boy Scouts, has volunteered to take care of the flags that line Lincoln Highway between Church through New Lenox. The display is to be limited to the section between Church and Oak streets.

Otto Bormet, New Lenox Township highway commissioner, appeared before the board to ask financial assistance on chipping and oiling Haven Ave. He supplies the labor. It will cost the village about $2,000. The village will take care its end, he was told.

Bormet also told the board he was ready to build the bridge over Hickory Creek that would give another connection between U.S. 30 and Francis Road.

The village will have to provide the right of way and it has been estimated it will take about $24,000. Mayor Hartung is working on the right-of-way problem, he said. The cost of the bridge itself would be divided between the township and the county, Bormet said.

ing another squad, abstained.

The village board is in the midst of drawing up its appropriation ordinance for the coming fiscal year and the squad question is bound to come up again shortly.

The village has been making use of the Police Auxiliary car at various times when it has needed a second car. The auxiliary car is an old one that the members purchased themselves.

Police Chief Wajchert told the board that at times when the police have needed another car he has used his own.

Village denies request for car

NEW LENOX — A motion to buy a new squad car for the Village of New Lenox failed to carry at the regular board meeting last Wednesday.

There has been some sniping at the proposal for a couple of meetings prior to last week. Trustees L. M. Guenther and Francis Miller have been questioning the necessity of another car at this time. Two cars would mean another fulltime man on the department they say and Police Commissioner Earl Schroeder points out that the village has grown and destined to grow a lot more in the immediate future and the village should be ready.

Bids for a new squad were opened at the previous meeting but held up for action until last week. Schroeder made a motion to purchase a Plymouth from Saper Chrysler and Plymouth dealer at Joliet for $3,167.52, the lowest price submitted. He got a second from Trustee Jack Batson. Schroeder and Batson voted "yes," Guenther and Miller voted "no," and Jim Warning, who also had been questioning the advisability of buy-

GOP sweeps county board race

MOKENA — Republicans won the three seats on the Will County board in District 2. District 2 is made up of Frankfort, New Lenox and Homer Townships.

Unofficial returns gave the total vote for the district as follows: John Oster, New Lenox, 1,881; Jerome (Jerry) Paddock, Homer, 1,810; Glenn Coburn, Frankfort, 1,896. All are Republicans and were incumbents and were members of the county board of supervisors.

Unofficial returns for the three Democrats running for the three seats were: Betty V. Perino, committeeman in Homer Township, 1,069; Victor A. Tinley, New Lenox, 1,038, and Wilbur L. Schalk, Mokena, 939.

Broken down by township the vote was:
Candidates Frkt. Homer N.L. Total

Oster	600	492	789	1,881
Paddock	581	568	661	1,810
Coburn	689	484	673	1,846
Perino	281	472	316	1,069
Tinley	301	334	403	1,038
Schalk	289	333	317	939

It was a light vote in all the districts. Committeemen and candidates in the County at large reported it was difficult to get people out to vote.

There will be 27 members on the new county board. There are 45 on the old board of supervisors that will pass out of existence this month. The old board meets today, April 12, for what should be its final session.

The post of supervisors remains but the duties will be restricted solely to township business. However, there is nothing in the law which prevents a supervisor who has been elected to the new county board from continuing to serve as township supervisor.

The office of assistant supervisors was abolished last year but their terms were extended for a year so they have been serving their terms which end today. The new county board will take office officially May 1.

There was a tie in the fourth district which is made up of DuPage, Wheatland and five Lockport Township precincts. Paul Schillinger, Republican incumbent, and Jerry L. Capps, a Democrat each tallied 1,038 votes according to the unofficial returns. It was expected the official canvass might alter these results.

With Schillinger the winner the Republicans would have 15 members on the board and the Dems 11. If Capps wins the Republicans would have a 14 to 12 edge.

There were complaints made by some voters because tally judges were sent out to precincts by County Clerk Clara Hartley Woodard when the vote was so light they weren't needed. The clerk explained that the law provides that when paper ballots are used and a precinct has 600 or more registered voters the county clerk must send out tally clerks to help with the count, regardless of how many voters turned out.

In the pre-election material passed out in various districts by the Democrats the Democrats said they had attempted to have the county board election held at the same time as the county primary and thereby save the county between $80,000 and $100,000.

"Just to clear the record," said one political observer, "the entire board of supervisors, Republicans and Democrats, endeavored to have the county board and the primary elections held jointly."

They tried to get the state legislature to remedy the situation, along with other economic minded boards and organizations but failed. Then the matter went to the courts in several sections of the state and finally wound up in the state supreme court. The courts were not economic minded so it turned out there were two elections. The primary and this one last week to elect county boards.

Orland board to hire park recreation head

ORLAND PARK — The village board at its meeting Monday night agreed to hire a director of recreation for village parks to work with Donald Pekau, director of building and grounds for the village. No salary was mentioned for the newly created position, and the board apparently has nobody in mind to fill the position at present.

The village does not have a separate park board. The village parks are administered as a part of the village government.

Trustee Roger Frantz reported that the Illinois Commerce Commission had refused the Citizens Utility Company permission to tie a 20-inch sewer main into the Orland sewer system. Citizens Utility serves Westhaven and Fernway.

In other action involving sewers the board voted to place in escrow $3,500 until repair work is done on a portion of the two 42-inch storm sewers draining the Karney subdivision east to Silver Creek Country Club and Tinley Creek. An inspection of the sewers showed leaks and need for a grate to be installed in the system. Trustee John Barker, suggested that in the future village trustees should be briefed when heavy equipment which might damage the lines crosses them.

A request by the Andrew Corporation for annexation to the village of an 80-acre tract of land bordered on two sides by property owned by Andrew, and on the other sides by 108th avenue and 143rd street was referred to the committee on buildings and grounds.

The board heard a complaint against the Keaney Brothers Builders for delay in removing a pile of dirt that was piled against part of the fence of the Silver Lake Country Club, and is apparently damaging the fence. The board agreed to press the company for removal of the pile of dirt. Trustee Robert Bibeau, made a motion that dog licenses be increased from $3 to $4. The motion was defeated by a 6-2 vote. The village board also agreed to investigate the possibility that the county would give rabies shots to all dogs at the time of license registration.

Mayor Melvin Doogan was presented a plaque from the Boy Scouts in honor of the villages fine cooperation with scouting throughout the years.

Building permits totaling $250,000 were granted by the village in the month of March.

By a 7-1 vote the board turned down a proposal to construct a fence behind Municipal Building 2 on West Street to keep people from cutting through the property.

The board heard a request by Richard Weaton, of the American Structure Company to relocate water mains as needed, where the company is presently installing interceptor sewers. The board decided that sewer and water mains could be rerouted after the company submitted drawings showing any changes involved. The board granted the company permission to work a 24-hour shift if the village is notified when the company is going to do so.

Manager post filled

City treasurer receives new position

By Geri Fitzpatrick

The appointment of Ronald Feldner as full time city manager of Oak Forest at an annual salary of $22,000 was unanimously approved by the board of trustees Monday night.

Feldner, aged 28, is a certified public accountant and he has served as treasurer of Oak Forest for two years. During this time, he has been credited with bringing thousands of dollars of additional revenue to the city as a result of his re-investment of funds from idle accounts. The current budget system was instituted during his term as treasurer and each year the city tax rate has increased. He has also been closely involved in the Cicero and 159th st. lighting project, and has secured more than $100,000 dollars in federal funds for the city.

Feldner and his wife Charlene have lived in Oak Forest for four years and have three children. He graduated from Lewis College with an accounting degree and he has been employed with a certified public accounting firm since 1965. He has had extensive financial and management services experience with the municipalities and a variety of business concerns. Besides serving as the city treasurer, he has been a budget officer and a member of the Police Pension Board.

In commenting on the appointment, Mayor Bernard J. Kelly said ads had been placed in several regional and national publications and more than 50 applications had been reviewed. He stated further that this appointment does not remove any authority from the mayor or the board of trustees, but provides the city with a person of executive authority on a full-time basis.

Feldner will begin duties April 17 and will be in charge of all full time departments: police, fire, public works, engineering, as well as special projects and public information. The city attorney and city treasurer will report to Feldner while serving as consultants. In addition, Feldner will hold direct responsibility in the areas of purchasing and budgeting.

Mayor Kelly expressed the expectations of the board that this newly created post will result in improved and increased services to the citizens at the same or lower cost. "We are confident that the full-time services of a city manager, to implement the policies of the elected officials who are part time will more than pay for itself. The city manager and the major department heads working more closely than ever before will determine even more ways to save the citizens' tax dollars," said Kelly.

In other business, the mayor issued a proclamation designating April as Oak Forest Disaster Preparedness Month and gave tribute to the 40 to 50 civil defense members who have given hundreds of hours to the community.

Approval was also given to a resolution proclaiming April as the United States Army Reserve month.

A citizens' petition requesting installation of stop signs at 155th and Central ave. and a statement urging action on the part of the board was presented by Wesley Soderquist, a spokesman for residents in the area.

The death of a 17-year-old boy and several traffic accidents at the busy intersection prompted homeowners to make the request.

The board expressed agreement and Trustee Michael Giffin will meet with county officials who have thus far refused their request. A traffic study of the intersection will be taken and the city will supply the county with accident reports to emphasize their need for the stop sign.

A special board meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the city hall to discuss items of general policy. Mayor Kelly said that the elected officials have agreed to hold a third meeting each month to discuss general topics and an ordinance to that effect is being written.

Trustees consider road work

TINLEY PARK — At a board of local improvements meeting prior to the regular board meeting Monday night several property owners from the area of 172nd st. and 66th ct. were present to discuss proposed street improvements. There will be a circuit court hearing at an announced date.

Proposed improvements consist of curbing and blacktopping the streets, 66th ct. from Harper's Hill, (Rock Island crossing) to the Midlothian Creek, and 172nd st. from 66th ct. to the existing improvement at 67th ct.

The discussion centered over the cost to the property owners which will vary according to usage. There are three individual homeowners involved and multiple property dwelling owners.

The homeowners will be assessed on a 50-50 basis with the village and the multiple dwelling owners, and a 100 per cent cost for the half of the street fronting their property. The village will pay for the other half of the street fronting the creek, as this portion would fall under park and school district property.

One of the homeowners on 66th ct. said that for years the three individual homeowners had maintained the street at their own personal cost and they did not feel that the village should assess them for additional improvements at this time.

Several trustees agreed that if it were possible these homeowners might possibly be reimbursed in some manner for their past expenses. The only dissenting vote among the trustees on the improvement was Merle Landau, who later told the HERALD that he felt that as long as the people at the meeting did not want the improvements that the money should be spent in the areas where property owners desired street reconstruction.

Ed Bulow, owner of two 12-apartment buildings said that he had dealt with many villages and felt that the Tinley board was offering an exceptional arrangement to the homeowner.

During the regular board meeting, discussion was held regarding issuance of a Class D liquor license for a restaurant at 16914 Oak Park ave. (formerly Homerdings). The board will ask the owners to come to the next board meeting to discuss parking facilities.

Trustee Landau said that the shopping center at 159th and Oak Park ave. will be starting in 30 to 60 days.

After the meeting, Trustee Carl Montecchi told the HERALD that Paul Box and Associates, traffic engineers, had completed a study of the area and proposed two entrances and exits off of Oak Park ave. and one from 159th st. The entrance off of Oak Park ave. would necessitate re-profiling (sloping) of the present hill. The state has already started plans for widening of 159th st. and has plans underway for widening Oak Park ave. to about 1000 feet south of the intersection.

In other business, the board heard a report regarding the possibility of purchasing the Rock Island parking lot. — heard a report regarding Modern-Way Cleaners' delay on licensing due to sidewalk, sewer easement and electrical inspection difficulties.

For disaster action

Civil defense unit wins praise

ORLAND PARK — The Orland Park Civilian Defense Unit received high praise for its operation during the fireworks factory explosion March 6.

In a special newsletter from the State of Illinois Civil Defense Agency, Office of Emergency Preparedness, Ethel Granat and Gerald Monnett were commended for their actions during the first real test of emergency procedures.

The newsletter read: "Due to much confusion on the scene there was a lack of information which hampered control of the operation. There were several units, however, who should receive a compliment for the following procedures, even in the midst of mass confusion.

The Orland Park operation was superb. Ethel Granat, Civil Defense Director, and Gerald Monnett, Assistant Director, set up the village hall as a staging area and command center. They had all of their emergency services on standby waiting for further information. Their volunteer fire department, Civil Defense, and fire departments from Posen, Worth, and Justice were all on duty at the Orland Park Village Hall and, if needed, could be sent to the scene very quickly.

Ethel Granat went as far as to select a rendezvous point at a new municipal building not far from the village hall for the school buses to drop off the children, since the village had been plagued by calls from concerned parents. The parents could then pick up the children without adding to the confusion. The Red Cross had a unit at the village hall standing by ready to set up emergency mass feeding and shelter for disaster victims.

"During the emergency when many units would be inclined to drive blindly to the scene without even knowing what is needed, or what had to be done, Calumet

City, Worth, Oak Forest, Steger and Skokie all called the MARC office, put their units on standby, and waited for additional instructions.

"There were other communities who did respond to the scene without checking with, or calling anybody and, in light of trying to make Civil Defense professional and well organized, they served to hamper instead of adding to the image of Civilian Defense." The letter was written by John Fascia of the Mutual Aid Region 2A.

Hearing next week in equipment violation

By Gertrude Gallagher

ORLAND PARK — A court hearing in a suit brought against Eugene Novak, 89th Avenue & 143rd Street, is set for April 19 at 2 p.m. in Room 1401 of the Civic Center. The suit has been brought by the Cook County Zoning and Building Department to compel Novak to comply with zoning restrictions.

Novak, who allegedly has been keeping heavy equipment on his property in violation of the zoning, has been previously instructed to desist at hearings, before the building and zoning department. The department is now asking for a court order to terminate the violation.

After learning of the suit at its April 3 meeting the village board continued with other business. A letter from Mark Lovejoy and Associates regarding duplication of street names in subdivisions was referred to Trustee Don Pekau.

Village President Melvin Doogan said various groups in the village are interested in a general cleanup, particularly along 143rd Street west of the Park School. Public Works Commissioner Bob Davidson plans to consult with the Forest Preserve officials on the matter.

Applications to the Metropolitan Sanitary District for sewer permits were approved for Gas City, 144th and LaGrange Road, Tuckaway, 147th and Norfolk and Western tracks, and the Arnold Kruse School at the Christian Reformed Church in Catalina.

Trustee John Barker was assigned to study the date designations for five official tag days including poppy, doughnut and heart days.

Pekau questioned why the village continues to pay for street lighting on the private street of 94th Avenue north of 151st Street. Police Commissioner Gerald Monnett said the walkway is still used frequently by children walking and riding bikes. Doogan added that the cost is minimal.

The erection of the fence along the Norfolk and Western tracks at about 151st Street will begin this week according to Pekau.

Officials indicated that one-half of the roadway on 88th Avenue will probably be open during the corrective work on the storm sewer crossing there.

Youth arrests may clear up 12 burglaries

OAK FOREST — The apprehension of two juveniles as they were leaving a house near 149th and Mission Thursday, has resulted in the clear-up of at least 12 burglaries in the village in the past three months.

Leading in the apprehensions was Oak Forest police officer William Busse, whose investigations prior to the arrests led to the apprehensions of the two youths.

Busse and a number of other Oak Forest police officers working on previous information supplied by Busse staked out a house near 149th and Mission, and the two youths were apprehended by police shortly after they had entered the house.

Police said the youths had nothing in their possession when they were taken into custody, but on further investigation resulted in police recovering coins, a movie projector, camera, and 8-track tape player, and stereo tapes which had been taken in previous burglaries.

Tinley chamber to install new officers April 26

TINLEY PARK — The installation of Chamber of Commerce officers will be conducted Wednesday evening, April 26, during the first general membership meeting of the year for the Tinley Park businessmen's group.

The annual recognition night, which will be dedicated to education in honor of retiring District 146 Supt. Walter Fierke, will be held Wednesday, May 10. Both events will be held at Jardine's Restaurant.

The April meeting will include a report on the developments in the community as well as the installation of officers. Ballots for the new officer slate have been mailed to chamber members. Police Chief Kenneth O'Brien also will make a presentation.

The May 10 "education night" will recognize various individuals in the community who have had a part in the education of the youth.

Reservations for both events must be made with the chamber office, 532-5700.

Pound foolish Courthouse blackout brings to 'light' Will's dim situation

Will County's "Penny wise and pound foolish" Board got an unexpected lesson last Thursday, April 6, when a tornado touched down at Joliet Airport. County emergency services functioned but, only with considerable difficulty.

Main transmission lines of the Commonwealth Edison Co. were downed in many areas of Will County causing complete power black-outs over widely separated areas.

Among the many points hit with the black-out was the relatively new $15 million dollar Will County building in downtown Joliet which houses the offices, radio and jail of the sheriff.

For five hours and 15 minutes, county-wide radio communications to sheriff's vehicles was almost impossible. Emergency communications were maintained via squad car radios which, due to the size of Will County, were very limited in their range.

If the tornado had caused a path of damage in the county or if it had jumped to the eastern end of the county, there would have been little county police could do.

In addition, 70 prisoners were being housed in the jail in the basement of the Will County building. Among these there were seven awaiting trial for murder.

Flooding was a real danger as the building pumps could not operate and lights were non-existent. Candles, flashlights and gas lanterns had to be employed until power was restored.

Another danger was also possible, escape. An abortive attempt to do this had occurred about 24 hours previous to the storm when four prisoners attacked a jailer in an attempt to gain their freedom.

Sheriff Joseph R. Trizna and Edwin R. Talbot, a member of the County Board's Sheriff's Committee, have attempted to have emergency generators and communications facilities included in the Sheriff's Department budget.

Telephone equipment to the sheriff's office in the county building was also inoperable, due to the power failure, thus cutting off nearly 90,000 people from emergency police aid for more than five hours.

Will County, with many modern facilities and a newly designed government, is one of the poorest equipped counties in Illinois if it cannot supply its main emergency forces with the tools needed to protect its citizenry.

We apologize for omissions

The publisher of the HERALD wishes to use this means to publicly apologize to High School District 228 board candidates Leland Grove, John Borland and Jessie Jugenitz.

The resumes of the three candidates were received by the HERALD office in sufficient time to be included in the April 5 issue. Due to an unintentional oversight their resumes were omitted from the April 5 issue while the resumes of three other candidates were published.

It is the policy of the HERALD to print resumes of all candidates prior to election, regardless of the HERALD's editorial stand.

the Fence Post

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

I wish to take exception to the space given to Paul A. Lill for his personal attacks, innuendos, and outright false statements regarding the board and administration of District 146. Since the paper printed the resumes of the candidates during the week of the election, the incumbent candidates had no opportunity to rebut his allegations. None of the other resumes treated their candidates in such a negative way. According to Mr. Lill, District 146 is falling apart.

As a board member for the past four years, I resent what he said. Mr. Lill also ran for the board last year and was beaten then. His approach then, as now, was negative. His is a personal axe to grind and has nothing to do with quality education in the district.

The achievement test statement is false, and we challenge Mr. Lill to present the facts. The students from 146 are achievers, and we'll match them with any other district around. The following is a quote taken from a recent newsletter from Mr. C. E. Barth, principal of Central School.

"Last month about twenty students from Central participated in a South Cook County Science Fair. Twelve won blue ribbons. These people will not participate in the Illinois Jr. Academy of Science Fair at IIT in Chicago. Winners here will then go to the State Science Fair held in Champaign at the University of Illinois."

"Other science students are actively involved in the use of our new planetarium facility. We feel that if we arrange to keep this facility, we will indeed turn out students with an excellent background for advancement work."

"I am extremely proud of our band and chorus, who recently were involved in competition leading to some excellent ratings."

I feel that we have some outstanding students with great potential."

Does that sound like a district full of pupils who are under-achievers?

There is no "entrenchment with educational frills and experimentation." We simply feel that the open school concept is a part of good education today, and we have set the district in that direction. This is no experiment.

As for "attacking the problems occasioned by a rapidly growing community," Mr. Lill overlooked the comprehensive plan presented by the present board covering our present building program which was presented to the voters three years ago and passed by them.

How does he think the expansion of Memorial School and Central School took place? How does he think the present educational center in Oak Forest was built? How does he think the next building in the Silver Lake Gardens area was planned and will be built in 1972? How does he think the board was able to purchase additional land for a future Junior High? How does he think these things were done?

As for the "open school fiasco," everyone is entitled to all the facts, not just what Mr. Lill says.

The Illinois School Building Commission loan (with no interest) was processed, bids taken, and contracts let by the building commission. The schedule was tight and with even minor delays, our time schedule was thrown completely off. The specifications were for concrete, poured, walls in order to make use of a new and lower cost method of construction (to save money). As it turned out, there was trouble with the aggregate and other minor construction problems which put the schedule into the bad weather months.

The accommodation of the pupils in standard classrooms, but using the "open school" concept, was accepted by the board until the completion of the new school. No one foresaw the increase in one certain age group which caused a temporary problem. But when this came to the board's attention, the problem was handled. Perhaps we don't handle everything to Mr. Lill's satisfaction, but we do the best we can.

Another out and out lie in Mr. Lill's "resume" was the use of the word "double-shifting." I challenge him to show me where any of our elementary pupils (outside of the kindergarten children) operate on a double shift.

We also resent the implication that our faculty is below par and that we have had to make "frantic efforts to upgrade the expertise of the teaching staff." We feel we have recruited and now employ the best teaching faculty in the area.

Why would a Daily News reporter, (Thomas E. Sellers) come to District 146 expecting to find a poor educational facility and then after two days, leave Tinley Park and write the glowing half page spread about our district and its administration in the Saturday issue dated March 4, 1972; unless we really do have an excellent district, Mr. Lill.

I have no idea of what makes him think that our board members take their obligations lightly, unless it is because he has come to our meetings and observed an amiable, sociable, informed board, who happen to get along together, and work out their problems together. We also resent the fact that he thinks he is the only one who can "devote" a great deal of personal time to do a thorough job. Our board has an excellent attendance record at regular meetings, adjourned meetings, seminars, and Special Ed. assignments.

A parting word of advice... When you run for a job, remember that you may have to work with some of the people you have maligned.

ALEX PUTZ
Board of Education, Dist. 146

Editor:

Saturday, April 8th, was the day for School District 228 to elect three of ten candidates to the Board of Education. One of these ten is a resident of our town.

He pondered the outcome, considering his picture and resume did not appear in any newspaper, he is not a well known figure in our village, newsprint from neighboring communities carried slanderous statements which portrayed twisted half-truths and often totally untrue accusations. Regardless of those facts, Leland Grove is an honest and a decent man. He is a Christian and endured many indignities without engaging in pettiness.

Mrs. Grove contacted over 300 residents to let them know of Lee's interest in young people. Everyone was encouraged to talk to him personally. One lady called back.

Meanwhile, a professional machine was also campaigning. The untrue and slanderous articles aided greatly. Just as in high political elections the most problem plagued school area was discreetly brainwashed. It was thorough and it was successful. The saddest aspect of all is the fact that the vote from Tinley Park would not present a problem. Past elections indicated its consequence: 338 people voted Saturday. Tinley Park never entered the contest.

Older citizens state little concern since their children are grown; parents of students have numerous complaints but they didn't vote; our youth will vigorously protest that they too have rights and yet they refused to use the responsibility and privilege of voting. Examine your actions before any of you complain of the condition of our school system again. The winner of the election never appeared on your ballot. "Apathy" won the race.

Thanks to all the well meaning people who did support Lee. He would truly have given you devoted service. He shall continue to that end.

Mrs. Leland Grove

The yard at Rittenhouse & Embree Lumber firm at Frankfort, where crews have been stacking products are filling rapidly. The sheds are filled with the more perishable types of building material and lumber is growing in the yard.

Moves from Chicago

Area growth attractive

FRANKFORT — Frankfort's new lumber company, Rittenhouse & Embree Co., will have its grand opening this weekend, April 14 - 15. The grand opening will run through April. In that time the firm hopes to meet a large number of the area residents.

The opening of the lumber store at Frankfort marks the establishment of the first branch of Rittenhouse & Embree outside of Chicago in its 89 years of existence.

"We have been doing a lot of business with contractors and residents from this area," said Robert Dehn, branch manager. "We know that this is a rapidly growing area so to give better service to our patrons we decided to open a branch here; branch manager Robert Dehn, said."

Rittenhouse & Embree is the oldest lumber business to be operated by the original founders in the Chicago area. It began in the Spring of 1883 when Moses F. Rittenhouse and J.W. Embree entered into a partnership. The original location of the firm was at 3911 S. Halsted St., but they lacked a dock site which was necessary if the business was to expand.

That problem was solved when Rittenhouse found a suitable location just east of the south Branch of the Chicago river at 35th Street. The first street east of the river which ran through the property was originally called Ullman Street, which later became Center Street and finally received the name it carries today, Racine Avenue.

The company operated three yards at that location and also had an interest or control in several other lumber firms. It also owned timberlands in Wisconsin, Michigan, Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina. To bring lumber from the north over the Lakes, Rittenhouse & Embree maintained their own schooners and operated a shortline railroad in the south that hauled passengers as well as logs.

When horses were used to make deliveries Rittenhouse & Embree owned more than 50 of the animals and had their own wagon repair shop, also a blacksmith shop to keep the horses shod.

Moses Rittenhouse died in 1915, J.W. Embree in 1933. The Embree family by this time had acquired the interests held in the company by the Rittenhouse family, but the name has been retained. J. W. Embree Jr., became president of the firm after his father's death. He has since retired and his place taken by his son, J.W. Embree III.

The firm supplied lumber and hardwood flooring for some of the largest buildings in Chicago, including the Merchandise Mart. It also furnished the flooring for the Trianon Ballroom. It was out of the ordinary this flooring, being squared on four sides to about one-inch thickness and laid on edge.

On Jan. 1, 1950 Rittenhouse & Embree began operation at its present location, 410 W. 111th St., in Roseland, with a lumberyard and mill.

In the time the company has been in business it has seen the coming of the automobile, the airplane, movies, radio, television, the splitting of the atom and space travel.

Last year it completed arrangements for the purchase of the B & M Lumber Co. at Frankfort and has now taken over the premises at 1 White St. It has repainted the buildings and constructed a fence and gate across the front of the yard.

In the retail store it carries tools, and tool rentals, kitchen cabinets, paneling from all the major manufacturers, hardware related to building, a complete paint section and wall paper. There are 14 employees.

On second thought

Balding is beautiful

By Glenn Logan

In this day and age of the statistically inclined it is almost certain that some agency must have a record of the number of baldheaded persons there are but just where such figures are to be found is beyond us.

The conservationists seem to have a pretty fair idea as to the bald eagle population which is said to be dwindling because of several different reasons but as far as this department has been able to learn no one has made any check on the supply of bald men.

I say bald men because I have never seen a baldheaded woman. There are some who have thinning hair. I have never seen one with a bare scalp, although I have heard of such. But then one hears so many things — some true, some false. It really behooves one to check on what one hears but one hears so much that there just isn't enough time to verify everything. And with a constitutional amendment making women equal with men, and needing only two more states for adoption, if there aren't baldheaded women now there soon will be.

The U.S. Department of Commerce, which among its other duties runs the census bureau and also keeps tab on a lot of things, like how many people have two automobiles, how many have radios, television sets, bathtubs or more than one job. It is possible the USDC has made a count of baldheads but where it is I don't know.

The World Almanac, which is chock full of facts and figures, has nothing to say on the subject. We looked for bald in the index but found nothing listed between Balboa and Balearic Islands. Hair was bare too — nothing between Hainan Island and Haiti, and thinking there might be something under "wigs," we turned to the W's, but there wasn't anything listed between Wight, Isle of and Wildlife.

Yet there must be a count someplace because there are a number of business firms hawking remedies for baldness, including wigs, who advertise in the newspapers, the magazines, radio and TV and no business is spending money like that unless they have expectations of getting a good return. And today in addition to various organs of the human body there are people in the business of transplanting hair.

We don't know how they go about that. If it is one hair at a time it would seem to be an endless job but perhaps they have something like that species of grass that one plants in clumps quite a few inches apart and it finally grows together? Or perhaps they have something like a creeping bent on golf greens?

Perhaps someday someone will discover what causes baldness and figure out a preventive remedy but until that day arrives there isn't much anyone can do about it but put up with it.

Back in frontier times when scalping was in vogue there were cases of instant baldness, usually fatal. But generally speaking getting bald is a drawn out process.

The hair begins retreating. It is seldom the retreat becomes a rout. Sometimes the process starts at an early age, sometimes it doesn't begin until one is getting long in the tooth. But whenever it starts the erosion process proceeds at a steady pace and contour plowing is out of the question.

It seems that most baldness has a tanned effect. The top is bare but around the edges, like on the old time surreys, there is a fringe. Some men today take a leaf from the long haired lot and let the fringe grow, especially at the back.

There is a risk to letting this back fringe grow so long that it curls up to quite a depth, especially in the spring when birds are in quest of nest sites.

One thing about the fringe type baldness — and your correspondent speaks from experience — there is no putting off shampoos until the weekend. One gets a shampoo everytime he washes his face because there's no stopping at the forehead.

There are some cases of baldness in which the entire head is devoid of hair and is as slick and shiny as a billiard ball whether the white or the red.

Jefferson P. Throttlebottom was telling me one day that one of the lads that hangs around Kelly's Tap is as bald as a cue ball but it never bothers him, w h e t h e r the weather is quite cold or extra hot. Sometimes he sits in a chair and takes a little nap. Jeff said, but never near the pool table. He says it makes him nervous to be around a man with pool cue in his hands and him not wearing a hat.

Hypnologist is speaker at astrologers meeting

OAK LAWN — "Your imagination is two-faced. It is a useful, constructive part of you, but it can also be ugly and self-destructive when it dominates you rather than being led by you," said Mary F. Straub, hypnologist, in her address to the Astro-Probes Aquarian Society of astrologers on April 5.

An Adventure into Suggestion Methods was her topic for the evening, and Mrs. Straub emphasized that inner contentment and the expansion of potential can be realized by the practice of deep relaxation, correct use of imagination and suggestion. "Certainly this is nothing new, but getting it to work for you takes persistence and strong desire," she said.

She outlined methods for self-suggestion, giving some specific help for achieving the goals of weight loss, improved performance in sports, kicking the smoking habit, etc. "Sometimes deep relaxation by itself modifies unwanted behavior patterns that involve tension and nervousness."

Mrs. Straub is going to conduct a one-day session in self-suggestion and relaxation on Sunday, April 23 at a Tinley Park location. It will begin at 10 a.m. and last 4 or 5 hours, depending on the amount of work needing to be done. The cost is $15.00 and cold cuts and coffee will be served at noon. Call 532-2562 for information.

The Astro-Probes society will meet on May 1 at 8:00 p.m. at the Colonial Savings & Loan in Oak Lawn. Louise Helene, Calumet City radio personality will speak on crystal ball readings and mediumship. The meeting is open to the public.

New design for shopping center

ORLAND PARK — The developers of the multi-million dollar shopping-residential complex planned for this community have announced, "It will set a new standard in shopping center design."

Marvin Richman, a vice president and architect of Urban Investment and Development Co., told a crowd of Orland Park residents Thursday night, April 6, preliminary plans for the planned unit development will be ready by the end of 1972, construction will begin in 1973 and occupancy will be sometime during 1975.

Although an architectural firm has not been selected, Richman said a "highly respected" Chicago-based firm was being considered. He reported that the final selection of the architect would be made in the near future.

The developer emphasized the extent of the Orland project and the importance his company was placing on the selection of the project's architect. "Orland Park will be very proud" of the completed development, Richman assured the audience.

Urban Investment and Development Co. is a four-year old firm and represents the combination of several other companies, one of which was the developer of Park Forest. Its parent company is Aetna Life & Casualty Co.

Urban has developed Old Orchard, Oak Brook and River Oaks shopping centers. It is currently developing Water Tower Plaza in downtown Chicago, New Century Town near Lake Forest, and an extensive residential-shopping community between Naperville and Aurora.

Although discussed for months but announced formally for the first time Thursday night, Richman told that Marshall Field and Co. and Sears Roebuck and Co. would be occupants of the Orland complex.

The center will be built to house four major department stores, Richman said, and will possibly have more than 100 stores as tenants.

The 230-acre development will occupy the northeast corner of the intersection of LaGrange Road and 151st Street. The commercial area will use approximately 130 acres and housing and related facilities will utilize 100 acres.

"We are emphasizing quality design and quality tenants," Richman reported. Leasing will begin the end of this year. He said persons interested in leasing information should write Urban Investment.

The projected 1975 opening is dependent upon "a great many variables," the architect noted. Construction will begin "in about a year," if the time table is to be kept, he said.

Although the other shopping centers Urban has developed have been the open mall design "we cannot say it will be an open mall or a closed mall," he told the audience. Urban is attempting to give the architect "as much freedom as possible" in designing the center, Richman stressed.

The developer listed several advantages the Orland Park community would enjoy from the project:

- It will bring the best Chicago merchants.
- "extremely convenient" shopping.
- employment for 6,000 normally and 8,000 at peak periods.
- short term employment during construction.
- retail sales tax of approximately $1 million annually.

He said the most important benefits to the community would be the village's opportunity to control the commercial development of the community. Richman said the stores would have come to Orland "one way or the other" under several separate projects. "This way the village has the opportunity to control the building," according to Richman.

The residential portion of the project will be allowed up to 1,500 units in compliance with Orland's new Planned Unit Development Ordinance. However, no residential units will be occupied until the shopping center is open and revenue generated to the city, the developer assured.

The Orland complex will be one of a "second ring" of shopping centers around Chicago, Richman said, and that Lake Forest and Aurora projects also are included in this category.

The Thursday night presentation was "really one of a series of progress reports on the center," Richman said. The meeting was sponsored by the Orland Park Chamber of Commerce. Chamber President Richard Lentfer said the developers would be invited back to make additional progress reports.

Keeping Orland Park residents informed about the 151st Street Planned Unit Development is a major concern of the developer, according to Robert L. Dishon (left), director of information for Urban Investment, and Marvin Richman (second right), Urban vice president. Richard Lentfer (second left), Orland Chamber of Commerce president, and Collins Gray, Orland resident, visited with Urban officials Thursday.

Army center plans open house

JOLIET — In celebration of the Army Reserve's 64th Anniversary, the Joliet Reserve Training Center will be holding an Open House, Sunday, April 16, 12:30 p.m.

The Open House will begin with a Drill Meet between the Joliet High School R.O.T.C. drill teams selected from over 320 R.O.T.C. cadets in Joliet.

The Open House will have displays from C Battery, 4th Battalion, 75th Field Artillery; 370th Maintenance Company; and 12th Special Forces Group.

Included will be displays of some of the newest army equipment. Army reservists are directing their "community month" and year around efforts towards meaningful projects targeted at some of their hometowns' major concerns.

At 2:30 p.m. the Westview Junior High School Band will give a concert of famous band music. The Westview Band has been selected one of the finest in the nation and is representing the state in the Festival of States' Band competition, St. Petersburg, Florida.

Captain Patrick E. Rea, Officer in charge of the Louis Joliet Reserve Center, said, "I hope that many of our fellow citizens can visit our Open House and see the type of program and facilities the Army Reserve has established. Our neighbors in all the towns and cities in the area have been great, and we would like to thank them for their support."

Cats and caps, story topics

ORLAND PARK — On Wednesday, April 12 at 10:30 a.m. approximately twenty children gathered in the Children's Room of the Orland Park Public Library for the first pre-school storyhour.

After a brief introduction Mrs. Bell, the children's librarian, began the program with a book, Where Are You Going Today? and reminded the children to tell their family and friends where they had gone today.

Are You Listening?, a story about a boy named Melvin who believed that nobody listened to him, followed. The second part of the storyhour featured stories about cats. Freddy, the Curious Cat, had an enlightening adventure in his own back yard. Another cat found out about dogs in the book, Angus and the Cat.

The program concludes with a film and story, Caps for Sale. This is the story of some monkeys who mischievously don the caps of a peddler while he sleeps.

The storyhour for elementary school children on Saturday, April 15 at 10 a.m. in the New Orland Administration Center, 14700 Park Lane will be composed of new books that have not yet been circulated. Animal stories will be the theme of the day.

The Silly Goose is a story about the day the animals thought the sun was falling out of the sky. A mischievous little kitten named Timpetoo has countless escapades because of his continual wondering about things. The adventures of a little bird who finds a strange new plant are told in the book, Half for You. The story portion will conclude with the familiar Curious George Gets a Job. The film feature of the program will be, "The Monarch Butterfly Story."

The story hours will be held each Wednesday and Saturday at the above times and locations. For further information, call the Orland Park Public Library at 349-8731.

25 YEARS IN BUSINESS

What's Growing on? NEW LENOX STATE BANK

We are sorry to inconvenience you

PLEASE BE PATIENT *

It won't be forever

Dear Customer:

Very soon we will begin a building program for the New Lenox State Bank. A 60' x 80' building will be added to the east of our present building. The addition will include four modern drive-up windows on the south. The architectural design is by Mays Williams. The construction will be done by Wil-Fred of Naperville.

The new addition will help us serve you more efficiently in all your banking needs. HOWEVER, during construction both you, our valued customer, and we will face problems and inconveniences. Construction will close our drive-up windows. In order to give you at least a limited drive-up service, we will have a temporary facility with two drive-up windows placed at the southwest corner of our property. We can't foresee ALL the problems, the construction and temporary facility will cause. At present we know of three. They are:

1. The traffic pattern on Pine Street and the alley will create a nuisance to you and also to the neighboring residents.
2. Because there will be no more parking east of the building, parking in the west lot will be at a premium.
3. Services in the temporary facility will be limited, and the drive-up teller may ask you to use the main building for more complete banking services.

We sincerely appreciate the business you have given us in the past year necessitating the construction of this addition. We regret the inconvenience we will cause you for the next few months. We anxiously await the day we open the door to our new facility and greet you with unexcelled service.

Appreciative of your patience,
Directors, Officers & Employees

Moms aid learning center

ORLAND PARK — Parlaying $300 and the willingness of dedicated teachers and volunteer mothers St. Michael School has found the way to initiate a unique program of education.

The Achievement Learning Center is set up for children in the three years of non-graded primary who may need extra help in achieving.

The Achievement Center had begun last September but the teachers found they could not do it all alone. A call went out for help and over 40 parents volunteered. As well as giving time each school day the mothers meet with the teachers in the evening and work under their supervision. No mother works with more than three or four children.

Sister Mary Eunice, Principal, said, "We have been able to help our accelerated students. This is one way we are able to help our slower achievers. If they get their basic foundation in reading and math I'm satisfied."

A measure of her satisfaction in the success of stressing reading and math is reflected in the achievement scores of the 8th grade class who graduated from St. Michael School and who took the entrance exams given by Sandburg High School in 1971.

The composite average of the St. Michael children was 10.4 grade level in Reading, Math and Language Arts. This was one grade year above the test average of the next highest elementary school in the ranking of the eight schools in the area feeding into Sandburg.

Children in the non-graded primary learn at different ability levels. In the morning they receive two hours of reading and language arts including writing, spelling and English, and math. In the afternoon they are in their homerooms according to age for peripheral subjects.

It is in the afternoon that about 100 children who have shown a weakness or who need extra drill on skills go to the Achievement Center for at least one hour a week. According to teacher Mrs. Ralph Caron, one of the instigators of the center, this is the time when the child gets the needed "Look I'm listening to you, honey" attention.

Every available space has been squeezed into use. The sisters' reception room, band room, reading room, C.C.D. office, T.V. studio and kitchen all see double duty. A carrel arrangement made from old bookshelves set on end has been set up in one dead end hall.

The school fund supplied $300 for equipment.

Sister commented, "We put every penny right into materials." Parents donated other materials.

Children are screened and assigned to one or more of four divisions where they receive help. There is a motor coordination unit, math unit, reading unit and phonics unit.

The coordination unit uses such things as teeter boards, balance beams, ropes, balls.

The math division makes use of blocks, dominoes, etc. Sister pointed out that some children must have something concrete to work out math abstractions. She added there is also a necessary amount of learning number combinations which can be monotonous to some children in the regular classroom.

"It's much like the Montessori system," said the Principal whose whole life is literally devoted to seeking the best education possible for the children in her charge. "A teacher's manual is set up for each division." She added the games are so devised in the educational program of the Center that each has a specific goal to be attained.

"Why this child isn't achieving as he should be," she said could be a result of 1.) lack of coordination; 2.) ordinary group instruction isn't sufficient; 3.) some children need more drill than others; and 4.) some children need concrete objects to work in math.

Games such as Digraph Hopscotch, Blends Race, and Spin-a-Sound, Bingo Shape Cards, red and blue yarn balls, Rummy Consonants, puzzles, string beads, dynamic balancing activities and phonics board games are just some of the many activities offered in a guided program.

Sister Eunice had high praise for the mothers who meet in the evenings in order to be instructed by the teachers in the use and purpose of the games. Sister said the program would not be possible were it not for these mothers and for the teachers who donate their evening time.

Some of the volunteer parents such as Mrs. Ursula Randall, do not have children in the school. Mrs. Randall is one of those who will teach art in the Achievement Center and to children not assigned to the special help divisions.

One unanticipated problem has arisen. The games and activities look like such fun that Sister has been hard put to explain to the children who don't need special help why they weren't chosen to be in the Achievement Learning Center.

Home pollution may cause fire danger

TINLEY PARK — "Don't be guilty of home pollution," warns Fire Chief Robert Bettenhausen. "You might not think of it this way," he says, "but the combustible clutter we let pile up in attics, basements, closets and garages is a kind of pollution — and just as dangerous as other kinds."

"We make these spots resting places for everything we think we might possibly use again, or things we think are just a little too good to be thrown away — broken-down furniture, lamp shades, mattresses, draperies, old magazines, old clothing, and similar items."

"These combustibles create danger in the home environment, because they provide the starting place and fuel for a fire which could destroy your home and put the lives of your family in jeopardy."

Chief Bettenhausen said, in urging every householder in the community to join in a thorough home clean-out during this Spring Clean-Up.

"If everyone will get busy in this anti-pollution drive against combustible clutter, our homes will definitely be safer from fire."

"Help keep yours out of the statistics collected by the National Fire Protection Association which show an estimated 603,500 United States homes hit by fire last year."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER BY JIM HIRSCH

Our statement last week concerning starving multitudes was not exaggerated. Their plight is pitiful. Too weak to weep, with understandable melancholy in agonizing slow moving daylight hours, homeless and deserted in lonely nights, these pitiful prayerless people await the certainty of death as a relief. Every day, they see loved ones faint. They see glazed eyes, bloated stomachs. They see falling hair, shriveled skin and finally the fate of death; a fate they know they too must face. Mahatma Gandhi once called it, "The Eternal Compulsory Fast."

These starving people gladly grab a bowl of rice for a meal — when they can get it. They thankfully accept a tiny piece of fish to please the palate as a change in diet — when they can get it. Exaggerated? No, not when 10,000 people starve to death EVERY day. Doesn't it seem proper to ask when civilized nations will correct these shameful and disgraceful situations; and when they will stop squandering billions in armaments and heed the prophet Isaiah, "... They shall beat their swords into plowshares ... neither will they learn war anymore ..."

Four to attend convention

Garden Club officers

TINLEY PARK — Election of officers was held at the March meeting of the Tinley Park Garden Club. New officers are Mrs. Delmar Kampe, president; Mrs. John Panozzo, vice president; Mrs. Irwin Smith, treasurer, and Mrs. Gervis Klepper, secretary.

The new officers will be installed at the April 20th meeting.

Also at the meeting, Mrs. Ralph Hayes was welcomed as a new member by the current club president Mrs. Klepper. A program of blue ribbon flower arrangements on slides was shown along with other slides of activities and projects the club has enjoyed over a number of years.

Hostesses were Mrs. James Marshall and Mrs. Panozzo. Mrs. Marshall's centerpiece of green cabbage and green carnations was in keeping with the St. Pat's theme.

Classes in flower arranging started April 5th and are being conducted by Mrs. Paul Wilkens.

Four members of the Garden Club are planning to attend the annual convention of the Garden Club of Illinois April 16-18 at the LaSalle Hotel.

Illiana women set spring date

FRANKFORT — The spring conference of the Illiana Women's Classical Union of the Reformed Church in America will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 18, at Camp Manitou in Frankfort.

John Anderson, house parent to boys at Annville Institute, Annville, Ky., will be the morning speaker. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Joel Benesma, a pastor's wife from Hammond, Ind. The board of managers report of the National Department of Women's Work will be presented by Mrs.

Gerben-Wagner, South Holland.

The afternoon session will begin at 1 p.m. with Mrs. Ralph DeVries, Harvey, as devotional leader. Harold Hakken, secretary for development, western region, in the office of promotion and communications, General Program Council, will speak on "In Quest of Missioners."

A noon luncheon will be served in the camp dining hall.

The conference theme will be "Alive in Christ as A Person." Host churches will be the Riverside and Woodmar Reformed Churches of Hammond, for the morning session and the Bethel Reformed Church of Harvey in the afternoon.

Reservations may be made through the Women's Guild for Christian Service in the local Reformed Churches.

Mrs. Richard Stadt of the Tinley Park Reformed Church, 16530 S. Ridgeland Ave., is secretary of Organization for Illiana Women's Classical Union of the Reformed Church in America.

Is Judy a future queen?

ORLAND PARK — Judy Novak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Novak, 14606 West Ave., is a contestant in the 1972 Miss Southern Cook County Pageant.

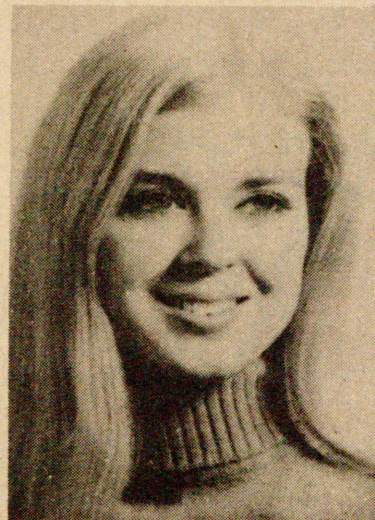

Miss Novak is a graduate of Murray State University where she majored in music. She will play a trombone solo for her talent in the April 29 pageant.

The pageant, which is sponsored by the Calumet City Jaycees, is an official preliminary to the Miss Illinois and Miss America Pageant.

The fifth annual Miss Southern Cook County Pageant will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 29, in the Thornton Fractional High School auditorium, 154th and Superior St., Calumet City.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students through high school age.

Lincoln-Way Co-op hires psychologist

FRANKFORT — Miss Sharon A. Kolarec, Grand Rapids, Mich., has been employed as a school psychologist by the Lincoln-Way Area Cooperative for Special Education according to Martin P. Mackay, Cooperative Director. Miss Kolarec's salary was set at $13,000.

Miss Kolarec was an elementary school teacher for eight years, and for the past three years has been employed as a counselor in the New Lenox grade school system.

Miss Kolarec received her Bachelors degree at Alverno College, Milwaukee, Wis., and her Master degree at Loyola University, Chicago. She has also studied psychology and learning disabilities at Chicago State College, Illinois State University and the University of Illinois.

Miss Kolarec along with Martin Mackay will function as psychologists for school districts in Manhattan, Frankfort, Mokena, New Lenox, Arbury Hills, and for the Lincoln-Way High School. Psychological evaluations are part of the Cooperative special education program for schools in the Lincoln-Way area.

The program was made mandatory by the state in 1969. The Lincoln-Way Area Cooperative program with the six school districts involved began in 1967. The state provides $5,000 reimbursement for each professional person employed in special education.

New science program offered

NEW LENOX — Lincoln-Way High School, which has been the innovator of several educational programs, has taken the lead again among area schools, through its adoption of a new science program.

"Ideas and Investigations in Science" is what the course is called. It is said to be designed to meet the needs of the vocationally oriented student.

Administrators at Lincoln-Way feel that when educators make a conscientious effort to meet the specific needs of students and offer a science course which is relevant to their life-style, society as a whole benefits as well as the student. These students will someday be our plumbers, carpenters, electricians, secretaries, mechanics, farmers and housewives.

The course is for two years and on the records are designated as Applied Science I and II, and were originated by Harry F. Wong and Malvin Dolmats in California.

There are five paperbound books for each year. Each book is concerned with one major idea. The first year program, taught by Mike O'Brien, is biologically oriented. The five books are titled, Inquiry, Evolution, Genetics, Homeostasis and Ecology. The first year program is offered only to freshmen.

The second year course, taught by Gerald Johnson, deals with physical science. Titles of these books are, Predicting, Matter, Inter-action, Technology. This year of the course is available to sophomores, juniors or seniors and the first year does not have to be taken to enroll in the second.

It was explained that in this IIS program ten processes are used repeatedly — observing, classifying, inferring, predicting, measuring, communicating, interpreting data, formulating questions, experimenting and formulating models.

Lincoln-Way educators feel that through these ten processes the six objectives of the program are being met: (1) Provide for continued student success; (2) involve students in laboratory experiments; (3) have students learn a series of concepts; (4) involve students in the problems of science; (5) make class relevant by including scientific problems with social implications; (6) use examples familiar to the students involved.

To the visitor who is not familiar with the program the classroom appears to be noisy and disorganized. What he is really seeing, however, is students involved in experiments, solving problems and drawing their own group conclusions. There are no lectures, few tests and much moving and talking.

But they do learn something about science that otherwise they would never know.

Club plans social hour

SOUTHWEST — The All Seasons Social Club will have its monthly get-acquainted meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 18, at the Midlothian United Methodist Church, 147th Place and Lawndale Avenue. After a business meeting members will have a social hour at the Moose Lodge in Harvey.

The get-acquainted meetings are held once a month and other social activities are planned at other times during the month. Officers and committee chairmen meet once a month to plan activities.

Future activities include a brunch in the woods, annual dinner dance, roller skating, a trip to Chinatown, an evening at Svoboda's, a yard party, a trip to Drury Lane and an evening picnic.

The club is open to single, widowed or divorced persons and further information may be obtained by calling 532-8799 after 5:30 p.m.

Altar society sets fun night

TINLEY PARK — The St. George Altar and Rosary Society will sponsor a "Red Garter" night of fun, music, surprises and entertainment Saturday, April 22, in the Georgian Room, 6707 W. 175th St., from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Featured at the event will be Charlie Parks and His Country Gentlemen musical group, banjo entertainment, and sing-alongs.

Guests have been asked to bring their own hard liquor and beer, set-up and pizza will be sold.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Sundi Schubert, 532-8832. Table reservations may be made by contacting Janet Andreotti, 532-4541.

Shock topic for nurses

JOLIET — Reservations for the first workshop for 1972 of the Emergency Department Nurses Association (E.D.N.A.) local chapter, are now being accepted through April 25.

Reservations for the workshop which will be titled, "Aspects of Shock," may be made by contacting Mrs. Kay Farrario, R.N., 815-436-3887 or Mrs. Peggy Sing, R.N., 815-436-2035. The fee is $5 and will include a buffet luncheon.

Registration for the workshop will be at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, May 13, at St. Joseph Hospital, 333 N. Madison St., Joliet. The days activities will include lectures by a local surgeon, anesthesiologist and nursing instructor. A movie on shock will also be shown. The workshop will conclude with a general meeting of the local chapter. All Emergency Department nurses have been invited to attend.

A milestone

NEW LENOX — Harry P. Cooper, 125 Oak St., marked his 30th service anniversary with Commonwealth Edison Co. recently. He has worked at Joliet generating station since he started in 1942 and is now yard shift foreman at the station.

Camping and fishing are Cooper's favorite hobbies. He served with the army during World War II and is a member of Harwood Post of the American Legion in Joliet. He is also a member of the congregation of the United Methodist church in New Lenox. He and his wife Betty have two daughters: Patricia attends Lincoln Way High school and Paulette is Mrs. John Overend of Oak Forest.

Interior of house is gutted by fire

FRANKFORT — Fire, believed to have been started by a defect in the electrical wiring broke out in the utility area of the five-room frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Marian Bell, on 95th Ave., about 1:30 p.m. last Thursday.

The fire was confined for the most part to the utility room, but also spread into the attic. No estimate was given of the damage but smoke and water caused practically total loss to much of the contents, especially carpeting and furniture.

A pet poodle died in the utility room, apparently of suffocation.

Neither of the Bells was at home when the fire broke out.

PTA plans ecology program

ORLAND PARK — The Orland PTA meeting to be held Tuesday, April 18th, 8 p.m., at the Orland Center School, 151st and 94th Avenue - is providing a symposium of ecology experts to discuss Orland Park's environmental conditions and future hopes for controlling our own local environment.

A Chicago Tribune staff writer will discuss the sewerage treatment problems of Orland Park. David Blenz, naturalist for Cook County Forest Preserve District, will provide an overview of all aspects of the need for environmental control.

On their recommendation the board voted to make Gum Street one-way east for the one block between North Cedar Rd. and Root St., from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Sundays. The church also wanted Ash Street made one-way from Root to Cedar.

Signs will be posted to that effect as soon as they are available.

Church asks change

NEW LENOX — Officials of Trinity Lutheran Church, N. Cedar Road, had asked the village for two one-way streets to relieve traffic conditions Sunday mornings. Police Commissioner Earl Schroeder and Police Chief Joseph Wajchert decided one street will serve the purpose.

On their recommendation the board voted to make Gum Street one-way east for the one block between North Cedar Rd. and Root St., from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Sundays. The church also wanted Ash Street made one-way from Root to Cedar.

Signs will be posted to that effect as soon as they are available.

Cultural arts fair set for Francis 4-H field

NEW LENOX — Will County Homemakers will be exhibiting the evidence of their interests and talents at the first cultural arts fair and playday at Francis 4-H Field on Friday, April 21. Entries will be received between 9 and 10 a.m. with judging being done in most classes by noon. The classes for entry include quilts, sewing, crocheting, knitting, plants, creative writing, painting, sculpture, ceramic, (original) stitchery, and creative craft. Reclaiming will be done through a claim check system following the afternoon program. Everyone is invited to enjoy the exhibits and the demonstrations in cake decorating, china painting, and flower arranging, along with the group participation fun in the afternoon. Bring your talent product, sack lunch, your spirit of good fellowship, and your friends to make this a real "Fair and Frolic."

Will homemakers offer drapery construction class

NEW LENOX — A course in drapery construction is being sponsored by the University Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Al Kolmer will present guidelines on fabric selection, coordinating necessary supplies to the chosen fabric, and construction technique. Mrs. Kolmer has been a professional drapery seamstress and instructor for several years.

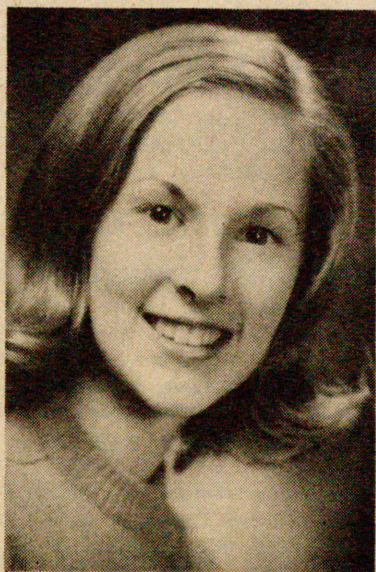

The course will be given at Francis 4-H Field on April 19, 26, and May 3 and 10 from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

with a half hour sack lunch period. Class members are asked not to purchase their material until after the first class session. For the last three sessions class members are asked to bring their sewing machine.

Enrollment is limited to 20. The fee will be $6 for Homemakers Extension Association members and $8 for non-members. Make checks payable to Will County Homemakers Extension Association and mail to 100 Manhattan Road, Joliet, Ill. 60433. For more information call 815-723-2265.

Marley girl 'Dolly' lead

MARLEY — Verda Jo Sass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Sass, Marley, will play the leading role in the musical, "Hello Dolly", at Joliet East High School. Tickets are now on sale for this production which will be staged May 18-21 at the school. There are 75 students in the cast under the direction of Miss Arlyne Nutt.

A senior at Joliet East, Miss Sass will appear as the Jack-of-all trades widow of Ephraim Levi, a dry goods merchant.

When the show opens, she is on her way to Yonkers, N. Y. to arrange the second marriage of Mr. Horace Vandergelder, the well known, half-a-millionaire - in truth she intends marrying him herself.

Miss Sass has been active in chorus at Lockport High School for two years and for two years at Joliet East where she is president of the capella Choir. During her freshman year she had a leading part in the musical, "Calamity Jane," and during her sophomore year she played the supporting lead of Bianca in "Kiss Me, Kate." She took the role of the lead, Lili, in "Carnival" at Joliet East last year.

She is a two year member of "Kohlage", popular singing group of Joliet East. She was first runner-up in the 1971 Miss Illinois Teen Age America Pageant. Upon graduation, she plans to attend Lewis College to major in nursing.

Welcome to our new neighbors, George and Peggy Kloos and Family. The Kloos clan resides at 691 Prestwick Dr. We say clan because there are 10 members in their family. Peggy and George, the parents and Marguerite, 14, who attends Frankfort Elementary School along with her sister Carolyn, 10, Jean, 9, attends Chelsea School along with her brother Daniel, 5. Susan age 4 and Larry, 19 months, are still at home with mother. George owns G.E. Kloos Material Co. at 122nd and Ashland in Chicago. The family hails from Beverly Hills where they resided for 8 years before joining our community. Boy, talk about the population explosion.

Sherri Davis of Pheasant Trail is the Chairman of her churches card party on April 12. The party, sponsored by Trinity Lutheran in New Lenox, should be a swinging event. Donation is $1.25 and includes salad and coffee. Playing starts at 1:00 P.M.

Alice Kal, President of the 18 Hokers, has announced the 1972 kickoff event for the Prestwick 18 Hole Golfers. The brunch will be held in the club on April 25 starting promptly at 10 A.M. All interested parties are requested to make their reservations with the dining room directly. A dues increase from $25.00 to $30.00 will be voted upon at the meeting. (ED: Let's see now, that's 20% — has anyone contacted Nixon?) Mrs. Kal's favorite weather forecaster has predicted perfect weather for the first golf event on May 2. Let's all pray for her forecaster, John Coleman, he needs it.

Hans Lautenbacher, Manager of the Prestwick Dining Room, has announced that two European trained chefs have joined his staff to serve our dining pleasure. These men are: Roland Zwerger, 34, trained at Glenn Course College of Culinary Arts in Sussen, Germany and the School of Simon Koll in Munich. Fire destroys building

NEW LENOX — Volunteer fire departments from New Lenox, Frankfort, Mokena, East Joliet and Homer battled a blaze here for two hours Saturday night, April 8. An investigation is being made as to the origin. It is suspected that it was started with a match.

The building destroyed, was a two-story wooden structure that formerly housed the Amos Bruns Barbershop on the ground floor and apartments above. The building was empty, however, having been purchased by the New Lenox State Bank for dismantling to make a parking lot.

The bank is building an addition on the east end with the front on Cedar Road. Excavations have been made for the foundations. The building that burned was on the southeast corner of Pine and Maple Streets, as the Lincoln Highway is called in New Lenox, which is to the west of the present parking lot.

Quality water

Village gets water equipment

NEW LENOX — Quality water for New Lenox was practically assured when the village board at its recent meeting agreed to install iron filters and related equipment, plus an enlarged main to carry the water from the storage tank into the system.

Mayor Joseph Hartung said he was confident the financing of the project could be arranged and the board authorized him to proceed with such arrangements.

John Djerf, an associate of Robert E. Hamilton, village engineer, told the board that the total cost, including an 8-inch main from the tank at Michigan and Pine to Joliet Road, chlorinator and other necessary equipment and fittings would cost approximately $91,000, Djerf said.

The board authorized Djerf to proceed with drafting plans for the project and to complete them as soon as possible. The board would like to have them by next Wednesday night but if they will not be ready for another week the board is prepared to call a special meeting.

There have been complaints registered about rusty water at New Lenox and with the new system nearing completion village officials want to be sure of a quality supply.

Last year the village purchased a water system that was serving some of the southside residents. This line cost the village $130,000. It consisted of two wells, mains and some 300 users.

With this system in its name the village borrowed money through revenue bonds, which are paid off from the rates collected for water service, and launched expansion of the system. The expansion will enable the village to serve another 700 homes and establishments.

The village has $900,000 out in revenue bonds, Mayor Hartung said, but it has to have more money now to provide for iron removal. The state standard for iron, Djerf told the board, is .3 per million as a maximum. Tests of the water at New Lenox has yielded iron up to 2.0 per million, the engineer said.

Djerf said the iron filter would cost around $27,500 and the related equipment, plus filter housing and the electrical connections would bring the cost to about $64,000.

There are now 4-inch mains leading away from the elevated tank and the well. Djerf advocated that these be replaced with an eight inch main which would greatly improve distribution of water, since it has been decided to utilize the second well at Michigan and Pine.

The well drilled near Hickory Creek proved inadequate. Djerf said there was a blockage in the second well at Michigan and Pine but this could be corrected and the village could expect it to deliver 300 gallons per minute, the same as the other well in that location.

An eight inch main there, the engineer said, would accommodate the maximum flow from both wells at the same time.

Djerf also suggested to the board that consideration be given supplemental sewer plans when drafting the budget for the coming year so that as funds become available there could be some needed improvements made.

He said that a crossing under U.S. 30 at Cedar would cost about $4,000, that work in the Elm-Forest street area would run approximately $23,000; reversing flow from Pine to Oak would be about $9,000 and to take care of Wood Street properly would cost about $20,000.

The engineer also advised the village that it should consider revising the sewer and water connection fees upward. The present fee is $500 for both water and sewer, Djerf said a realistic figure, based on today's costs, would be $250 for the water and $500 for the sewer.

"I would say that a charge of $750 for a tap-on for sewer and water would be very fair. That would be for a single family home. The rates for multiple family dwellings could be adjusted in line," Djerf said.

Board members agreed and Mayor Hartung appointed Trustees Francis Miller, head of the water department, and Trustee L.M. Guenther to confer with Djerf and come to the next meeting with a recommendation on the tap-on fee question.

"A person certainly couldn't afford to put in a septic system and his own well if he could get hooked up with the village systems for $750," the mayor said.

Village Board hears two water problems

FRANKFORT — All communities, large or small, have surface water problems from time to time and Frankfort is no exception to the rule.

Paul Chamberlain, 558 Birchwood, Connecticut Hills, voiced a complaint to the board that in building a house at 564 Birchwood put in a too high foundation that has altered the natural waterflow and he is getting a pond behind his home.

Trustee Wilbert Klier, head of the water and drainage committee, said a line of plastic tile would take care of the situation. Chamberlain said the contract is willing to pay half the cost of such a project.

Village Attorney August J. Santoro was instructed to write the contractor, advising him to remedy the condition or the village would send him the bill.

The other complaint, by George Hilton, 143 Nebraska St., was to the effect that he was getting too much water on his property.

A motion was adopted for village employees to investigate Hilton's complaint and install a drain if the village is at fault.

In other business the board referred a proposed ordinance to the plan commission, that is supported by Lincoln-Way High School and the grade school districts, which provides for land or cash contributions for school purposes for subdividers.

All of the villages in the Lincoln-Way district, Frankfort, New Lenox, Manhattan and Mokena have been asked to adopt such legislation. Without this, it was pointed out, there is a lag of two years before any taxes are collected on such developments.

The Frankfort board also went on record as supporting Senate Bills 658, 659 and 651, sponsored by State Senator Harris Fawell, which would make such contributions a state law. The ordinances before the village boards, in the case of Frankfort it was presented by LeRoy Olson, superintendent of Frankfort schools — are based on a provision in the Cities and Villages Act.

On the recommendation of Trustee Michael McAndrew, chairman of the finance committee, the board voted to retain the firm of Grumley, Dicke, Thorton and Clark as auditors.

Teen charged with possession of LSD

Undercover agents of the Metropolitan Area Narcotics Squad (MANS) arrested Charles F. Anderson, age 17, of 18 South William Street in Joliet on April 3, 1972 for alleged possession and sale of a quantity of LSD pills to the MANS agent.

Arrangements were made for the MANS agents to purchase 20 LSD pills from Williams in the early evening hours of April 3 in the parking lot behind St. Raymond Cathedral in Joliet. Williams and the agents arrived at the agreed upon time and the sale of the pills was completed according to police reports. Police reports also indicate that initial arrangements for the purchase were made between Williams and another student who attended Joliet Catholic High School.

Williams was held in the Will County Jail until April 4 when he appeared before Judge John Lang for a hearing. Judge Lang set his bond at $5,000 and ordered another hearing for April 18. Williams is now free on bond.

New Lenox resident attempts jail escape

JOLIET — A New Lenox resident, Charles Blair, 22, of 151 Terry Elden Lane, one of the four prisoners who attempted an escape from the Will County jail last Wednesday night, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for 20 to 40 years for a series of armed robberies.

The escape plan, which included an assault on a jail guard, failed when a trustee called to the guard to run and his cries brought sheriff's deputies to the scene.

On Thursday Blair was brought before Judge Angelo Pistilli in circuit court who pronounced sentence. Blair had been indicted for nine armed robberies. A jury found him guilty in the first case tried. He asked probation and in the second case pending changed his plea from not guilty to guilty and again asked for probation.

The probation was denied and Judge Pistilli sentenced him for five to 15 and seven to 21 years, the sentences to run consecutively.

The 20 to 40 year sentences will run concurrently. He was sentenced to concurrent terms on six charges, and will finish all of them at the same time. They will also run concurrent with the two consecutive terms.

The two sentences were for robberies at Highland Liquors, 1619 E. Cass St., Aug. 19, and the Galli grocery, 1604 Copperfield Ave., May 11.

The six cases included: Highland Liquors, May 25; Toddy's, at Channahon, Aug. 12; Dick's Tavern, 1827 E. Washington, Aug. 4; Partak's tavern, 651 Gamsey Ave., March 9; Kochalka's Food Store, 701 Gamsey Ave., Aug. 3, and the Cardinal Food Store, 650 Meeker Ave., March 8.

A jury found him innocent of robbing Don's Stop and Go, 2016 E. Washington St., May 31.

Thursday's tornado winds cause damage to Northern Illinois

MOKENA — The New Lenox-Frankfort-Mokena area had rain, sleet, hail and snow as did most of northern Illinois Thursday night after temperatures had rather outdone themselves earlier in the day but were spared from the unconfirmed tornado strike that caused damage estimated at more than $1-million in Joliet.

Large commercial buildings and schools on the far west side of Joliet were hit hard by the winds that stuck shortly after 8 p.m. A pilot landing a plane at the Joliet airport a minute or so before the storm hit said he saw a funnel cloud.

Other persons reported hearing a roaring sound like hundreds of locomotives tearing by at top speed. The storm played the tricks of a tornado, smashing and jumping, battering something heavy apart and leaving something lightweight and fragile untouched. Large sections of Joliet were without electric service for anywhere from one hour to 20 hours. Telephone service was affected too.

No one was killed, but about 30 persons were treated at hospitals for injuries.

Through residential areas

Curb on truck traffic sought

FRANKFORT — Hang onto your hats, folks, the Frankfort village board has the trucking problem again. Duane Warning, 137 Center St., accompanied by Allan L. Mager, 168 Sycamore, who was active in the fight two years ago and is a former member of the village board, appeared before that body at its recent meeting to ask that something be done to impose some curb on truck traffic in residential areas.

He is not against local deliveries, Warning said, but added that he believed establishments of a truck route which would bypass the residential sections should be worked out.

Warning said that in one day, between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., he counted 186 trucks operated by two firms pass in front of his house to and from the industrial complex along Center Road, south of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway crossing. There were others too, but he had no count on them, Warning said.

He added that he had talked with Roy Cousins, Will County highway engineer and the latter had told him the village had complete jurisdiction over the streets within its boundaries.

Mayor Glenn Warning said this was a different viewpoint than was given the village when the truck question came up two years ago. At that time, he said, it was brought out that the village had no control over state and county highways on the question of what type vehicles could use them.

The village endeavored then to establish a truck route on a voluntary basis and had signs erected asking truckers to cooperate but the state removed the signs and a similar fate met signs the village placed on Sauk Trail. The trial was described as a failure.

"It is possible," the mayor said, "that we might be given jurisdiction over all the roads if we were to take over their entire maintenance but that would take more money than we would ever have available for street work."

He suggested that Duane Warning and Allan Mager regard themselves as a committee to determine the present paths of truck traffic in the village, the number of vehicles involved, and any other pertinent facts, including the effect the completion of Laraway Road may have on the problem.

Warning and Mager asked that a member of the village board be added to the committee to aid in getting answers to questions, and give the undertaking an official tone. The mayor asked for a volunteer and with no one stepping forward, drafted Trustee Richard Trevathan.

This committee will report back later, at a meeting when there is a full board present. Last week trustees Howard Osamus and Lynn Kohlhaugen were absent.

When Village Attorney August J. San-

toro asked about establishing a truck route he pointed out that it was a policy matter for the board. If the board wants to establish a route, then it can be considered how to do it. He also pointed out that in as much as the village has worked hard to bring in industry too much harassment could be inadvisable. The board was also informed that some of the trucks now going through the village were travelling too fast. Trustee Donald Atupp, police commissioner, was instructed to have police watch this and take what action may be necessary.

Frankfort needs manager

FRANKFORT — The village of Frankfort is looking for someone to serve as a business manager. The person would serve as an administrator, a public relations man, handle complaints and problems and take care of details that board members do not have the time nor opportunity to do, according to Mayor Glenn Warning. The board will discuss the matter further at subsequent meetings but all present indicated approval of the proposal and it is expected that when the budget for the coming fiscal year is adopted it will carry a salary provision for a business manager.

New Lenox has employed such a system for many years and has found it to be quite successful. At the moment New Lenox is without the services of a business manager. Roy Dowle resigned the position to go to Florida last month but the village board there is looking for a successor.

Mayor Warning brought the subject up after Village Attorney August J. Santoro told the board that he had spent 45 minutes talking with Joseph Eschback of the Northern Industrial Steel Co., a fabricating company which has been established south of the village.

It is one of several properties in the area that the village is seeking to annex. Santoro has carried on a lengthy correspondence with some of these people without gaining much headway. Santoro finally met with Eschback and spent the better part of an hour discussing the advantage of becoming a part of the village but said he was unable to answer all the questions, in regards to annexation.

Santoro suggested that the Industrial Committee or some committee should work up a brochure or program to tell prospective industries and commercial firms what Frankfort has to offer. There are brochures, about Frankfort which many persons have suggested that the brochures be updated.

"I am sorry," he said, "but I don't have the time to devote 45 minutes with each and every industry thinking about annexing to Frankfort. Nor do any of the members of this board. We have our own work, our own businesses to which we must attend. Being an official of this community is not intended to be a full-time job but we need someone for whom it would be a full-time position. I think we should have a business manager."

The other agreed. All the board members are employed and have found there are not enough hours in a day to work at their own jobs and devote the outside hours to village business, including the investigation of complaints and other problems.

Mayor Joseph Hartung thanked Danahy for his interest and assured him that the board would always protect the public interest.

We respectfully ask the village authorities to act as deliberately, in any further negotiation on this development, so that what we consider an unsatisfactory arrangement to the taxpayer will not become more so," Danahy said.

No decision made on 'Leavitt' project

NEW LENOX — No reports from the plan commission and zoning board were made to the village board at its meeting last Wednesday because no decisions had been reached, according to Lewis Loeb, planning group chairman.

One of the matters discussed at the last hearing involved the project of Leavitt & Sons, dealing with the residential development for a 91-acre track south and west of the Lincoln-Way Shopping Center.

However, one of the citizens who attended the plan commission hearing, asked was given leave to make a statement relative to the proposed development.

The speaker, Robert Danahy, 118 Haven Avenue, said there is a lack of understanding by many village residents about the pre-annexation agreement with the Arlington Grove Development Co. Danahy said the notices of planning and zoning board hearings have contained no information "amendments or variances to existing zoning ordinances as they apply to subdivisions."

If the public had been aware that what he described as preferential treatment was to be extended the developer in the pre-annexation agreement, (by lowering and amending existing zoning ordinances, including those covering subdivisions and planned unit developments) a great deal of interest would have been generated, as indicated by recent attendance of citizens at the plan commission meetings, Danahy said.

Danahy protested that the pre-annexation agreement not only released the developer from compliance with many existing standards, but even releases him from compliance with future zoning ordinances, if it conflicts with his contract.

Under the contract, Danahy said, there will be 950 living units "on a parcel of land less than 100 acres . . . which means a population of 3,600 people, yet in New Lenox 2,850 people occupy approximately six times as much land."

"Since the village has invested thousands of dollars in taxpayers money in sewer and water facilities, I am sure, they feel as I do, and resent extending the use of these facilities, as well as others of the village except as on the same basis as available to everyone else."

We respectfully ask the village authorities to act as deliberately, in any further negotiation on this development, so that what we consider an unsatisfactory arrangement to the taxpayer will not become more so," Danahy said.

Eagle trackmen win a pair

By Ray Kubis

ORLAND PARK — The Carl Sandburg team opened its 1972 season in style this past week with two non-conference victories. The varsity squad, under the guidance of Coach Gene Kowert neatly outperformed Lockport West on Tuesday and Blue Island Eisenhower on Thursday.

Lockport West did offer some firm competition for the Eagles until they fell by a tally of 66½-60½.

Eisenhower was easily subdued by the Eagles 92-31. Offering explanations for the thrashing his Eagles gave Eisenhower, Coach Kowert said "Eisenhower does not have a very disciplined spring schedule; this results in very little action by the team members over the holidays."

Eagle Dave Gavin earned points with his first place finishes in the mile and two mile events.

Gavin recorded the most team points of any individual Eagle.

Jeff Crowhurst, another distance runner captured firsts in the 880 in both meets, as well as second in both mile events.

Vern Piper and Ernie Starcevic combined for a mass of points in the hurdles events in both meets. Piper recorded first, second and third in the two meets.

Starcevic recorded a first and three seconds in the two meets. Tom Budniski racked up a first and second in the long jump in the meets.

Juniors Mike McNicholas ran well in the sprints. In the field events John Dudek and sophomore Don Thurston added their share of points to the Eagle total.

Thurston won the shot put event against Eisenhower, but his effort was overshadowed by the improving Dudek. He recorded two first, a second and a third.

Against Eisenhower Dudek's discus effort of 15'10" bettered the state qualifying toss by over a foot.

This week the Eagles have two more non-conference meets. Tomorrow the Eagles host Lockport Central at 4 p.m. and Thursday the Eagles travel to Richards for their first away meet.

Bowling Briefs

ORLAND PARK — Wednesday at the Palos Bowl the Carl Sandburg Bowling League held its annual Easter Open.

John McCarthy, with a 504 handicap for the six games, won the open with 1538 total pins. He just nipped Brian Dobberphul who amassed 1529 pins with an identical 504 handicap for the six games.

Finishing third was Rick Musil with 1512 pins.

The tourney's high gross total was registered by Greg Johnson who rolled 1100 pins for his six games. Regular Carl Sandburg league play will resume tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the Palos Bowl.

Sex Minus One retained its three-game league lead in the Palos Lions Bowling League on Saturday with two victories over third place Formula Five.

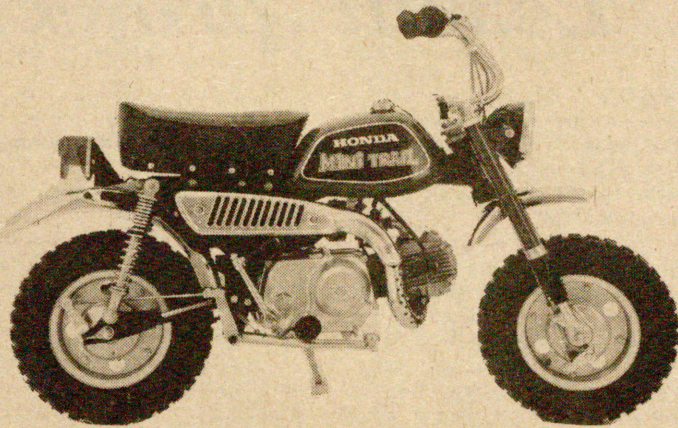

Sex Minus One's record is now up to 29-10. Second place Anythings won two games from the Neighborhood.

Survivor of the Rich Central District will play the winner of the Reavis District, May 15-17 in the Thornton Fractional North Regional. Teams in the Reavis District are: Marist, Chicago Christian, Reavis, Stagg and Evergreen Park.

Also playing in the TFS Regional will be the winners from the Bremen and Thornton Fractional South Districts. Competing in the Bremen District are: Thornton, Richards, Eisenhower, Bremen and Thornwood. Teams in the TFS Regional, are: Illiana Christian, Thornridge, TFN and TFS.

Romeoville Regionals winners will advance to the Joliet Central sectional, May 22-24 against the winner of the Morton West, Regional. Winner of the TFS Regional will advance to the Joliet Central Sectional against the winner of the Kankakee East Regional.

It's a short season

TINLEY PARK — Instead of six games Tinley Park has played exactly four innings of baseball so far this season. The Titans got into action briefly last Thursday playing four innings against Lemont, before, rain, snow, and cold forced cancellation with Tinley leading 3-2.

The teams regularly scheduled double-header opener with Kenwood was cancelled as were games with Lincoln-Way, and a doubleheader with Mokena, all victims of the weather.

Bengals open with a win

OAK FOREST — Oak Forest made it look easy in its 1972 baseball debut last week. The Bengals playing the Hillcrest sophomore team won 12-4. Oak Forest, a two year school is playing sophomore squads with a full schedule against other sophomore teams, but since the Bengals have no upper classmen yet their team is equivalent to a varsity squad at other schools.

Nick Renna the teams top pitcher last year went the route against the Hawks firing a four hitter and striking out seven. Renna also got three hits, two of them doubles to drive in a pair of runs.

Dave Pagel had a double and a single to drive home a pair, and Kevin Newquist doubled home two. Coach Robert Miller was pleased with his teams overall performance for the first time out. "We made a couple of throwing errors, but this was the first time we had played on a real infield this season," Miller said.

Monday the Bengals played Rich Central, and then host Stagg later in the week.

Sandburg loses to Eisenhower, 4-2

ORLAND PARK — Carl Sandburg's varsity baseball team opened their season against Blue Island at the Cardinals field. Bill Edwards opened on the mound but was forced to leave in the third inning where Tom Oramby took over.

The Eagles lost 4-2. Sandburg committed errors as Eisenhower pushed across four unearned runs.

Juniors Al Barnett and Crane D'Loughy collected five hits but couldn't muster any runs.

Coach Ron Mellan said the inexperience of the team and their failure to hit hurt the team.

Golfing schedules announced

COOK COUNTY — George W. Dunne, President of the Board of Forest Preserve District Commissioners, announced today that the district's seven golf courses will open early in April, "weather permitting".

"This year, for the first time, senior citizens, age 65 and over, will be issued lifetime cards. These cards will permit the thousands of seniors who enjoy the game to play for only $1 at 9-hole courses and $1.50 at 18-hole courses, on Mondays thru Fridays, 6 a.m. - 4 p.m., excluding Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays", said Dunne.

Junior players, age 9 - 17, will be issued cards allowing them to play at the same reduced green fees Monday through Fridays, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m., excluding Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays. Cards issued to junior players will be good until they are 18.

Senior and junior players wishing to secure these special cards may do so by completing the district's application form, submit a photo (1 1/4 by 1 1/4), and pay a fee of 25 cents.

Applications are available at the district's general headquarters, 536 N. Harlem Ave., River Forest, from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., Picnic Office, 118 N. Clark, Chicago, Room 1130, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.,

Monday through Friday. The seven course cashiers, and the (11) district division offices, located throughout the city and suburbs, also have applications available.

"Because our courses are expected to open early in April, we suggest that senior and junior players make application immediately in order that the district can process same and forward the special cards to the applicants before opening day," said Dunne.

For additional information or location of the golf courses and divisional offices where applications can be secured, call COlumbus 1-8400.

SOUTHWEST — The Southwest Cook County Cooperatives Special Olympics will be held May 20 at the Tinley Park High School.

The deadline for application by prospective athletes is May 5.

Competition will center around the following events: Level 1, primary, Level 2, intermediate, and Level 3, junior high. Bean Bag Throw; high school Level, Softball throw; Levels 1, 2, 3 and high school, 50 yard dash; Levels 1 and 2, standing broad jump; Levels 3 and high school, running broad jump; Levels 1, 2 and 3, obstacle course.

ORLAND PARK — Last week in the Small Fry International Tournament held in Racine, Wisconsin was one of disappointment for Orland Park's small fry. In the first contest Orland suffered a 48-45 defeat to Homestead, Pa.

Later the local team was defeated in the consolation game to a tough New York team, 50-40.

TINLEY PARK — Registration for all boys and girls ages 7-16 for the Tinley Park Athletic Club Road Runners Track program will be held Saturday, April 15, at Casey and Woods Sports. The fee is $3 per entrant. Boys who compete on a high school track team are not eligible.

Track meets will be held on Saturdays and practices will be held at Bert Fulton School.

The first practice will be held at 6 p.m.

Monday, April 24, for entrants 7-10 years old. Practice for entrants 11 years and older will be held at 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 25.

NEW LENOX — For Lincoln-Way it probably seems like the baseball season would never start. The Knights will try it again tomorrow, April 12 at 4 p.m. when they host Reavis, in what they hope will be their 1972 debut.

Four times last week weather stopped the Knights against Romeoville, Lockport, Providence and Joliet East. The Reavis game will also mark the start of the Southwest Suburban Conference season for the Knights.

NEW LENOX — The Lincoln-Way golf team got away to a slow start last week with a pair of losses. The Knights lost a 340-372 decision debut to Providence and then were beaten 316-342 by Joliet Catholic.

Jim Bellington was top Knight against Joliet with an 84. John Nakashima fired an 85, followed by Tris Mathews, 86, and Gary Varner, 87.

Against Providence Nakashima was medalist with a 79, followed by Bellington with 86, Varner, with 87, and Mathews with 89.

NEW LENOX — Weather finally permitting today, Tuesday, April 11, will be the first outdoor meet for the Lincoln-Way track team. The team hasn't run a unit yet.

The first scheduled outdoor meet against Providence and Joliet Central was cancelled. Coach Joe Rodriguez, ran some of his team in the Normal Relay, but other than that the Knights have had only practice sessions for the past two weeks.

TINLEY PARK — Rich Meier put on a one-man show as Tinley Park opened its track season against Homewood last week. Meier won four events, the high and low hurdles, the long jump, and the 220, capturing four of the six events the Titans won.

Despite Meier's efforts Homewood won the meet 73-54. Coach Bill Farley was pleased with his teams performance in its season debut. All of the winning efforts were equal to the individual winners best performances last season," Farley said.

Orland shopping center developers would provide capital if necessary

ORLAND PARK — Village President Melvin Doogan told a crowd of Orland Park residents Thursday night that developers of the 151st Street shopping center would furnish capital if the village needs funds to develop streets and other services prior to receiving revenue from the commercial development.

During a question and answer period President Doogan said the village would pay back any such capital advance at the rate of 10 percent annually.

Other questions and answers included:
Q — Will an individual be able to purchase a condominium and rent or lease the units?

A — If this is the type of housing the complex develops it probably would be possible since Urban Investment follows this policy now.

Q — What is the name of the project?
A — We hope to have it by the end of the year.

Q — Dan Scholz of 147th Street and 94th Avenue questioned, "What is the town giving you (the developers)?"

A — Marvin Richman of Urban turned the question over to Doogan who pointed out that the village board had spent "three or four years" working on this project. Chamber of Commerce President Richard Lentfer said, "We are giving them the opportunity to build and do business in our community."

Q — What additional police protection will be needed and who will pay for it?

A — President Doogan said the village would provide additional police and they would be paid from the increase in retail sales tax revenue.

Q — What about traffic flow in to and out of the shopping center?

A — Our architects will be working with a traffic engineer . . . all this will be designed at the same time.

Q — What about density of single family and multiple family housing?

A — We try to provide what the home buyer-renter is looking for. Richman said he doubted if single family units would be provided.

Q — What safety precautions will be made for the grade school (Center Grade School on 151st Street)?

A — We are most conscious of this school. Our traffic engineer will plan for this.

Q — Will 151st Street be the main street handling shopping center traffic?

A — LaGrange Road and 151st Street will be the main thoroughfares for entrance and outlet.

Q — Where will the commercial buildings be located on the site?

A — The center of the retail complex will be on the now vacated 94th Avenue.

Q — What brought the group (Urban Investment) to Orland Park?

A — We project that the (necessary) residential development is either here or will be.

Q — I thought 94th Avenue was a county road. How did you get it vacated?

A — Village Attorney Ray Pieper said that it had been difficult getting the street vacated. The village had to pay $1,200 for the vacation process.

Q — Why can't we use 94th Avenue until the project is started in 1973?

A — The title insurance company would not guarantee the property title until the road was closed.

Q — When will 147th Street be extended from 94th Avenue to LaGrange Road?

A — We have agreed to make land available for the construction of 147th Street if the village builds.

Q — What is the comparison of Orland project to River Oaks?

A — Orland is 110 to 130 acres for commercial. River Oaks 100 to 110 acres.

Q — Thirty-three months is a long construction period. Why is that amount of time projected?

A — It is a long time. Normal is 18 to 24 months. We will have plans in 1972 but they will not be working plans.

A young male resident concluded the discussion, "I've been a resident only seven months . . . We are giving them (Urban) an opportunity to make a living in Orland Park . . . This development will help the community to grow and become a better community . . . I'm all for this project."

Richman closed his remarks, "We intend on working with the community very closely and planning with you. We are going to be a lot more than a shopping center to the community."

Musical group, composition winners, highlight PTA meeting

ORLAND PARK — The PTA recently presented a two-part program consisting of The Little Angels musical group, and a composition contest entitled, "Who Am I?"

Winners and entrants of the contest are as follows: Sixth grade, First place, Bill Katzenberger; Second place, Diane Hickman; Third place, Erin Donohue. The other finalists from Sixth Grade were: Marian Pankow, Amanda Corrie, Peter Schmidt, Gregg Fazio, Mike Avolio, Dale Rehus, Lori Metzler, Tom Trikolos, Evelyn Zima and Bill Rehm.

Seventh Grade winners are: First place, Bobette Zima; Second place, Kevin Graham; Third place, Cindy Gerds. The other seventh grade finalists are: James Starwarz, Cindi Garrett, Mary Kitridge, Ann Larenzi, Bill Pakosz, Doug Schuetz, Paul Szymanski, Christine Robinson, Rosanna Paccaga, Mary Lawless, Justine McBride, Nadine Rolando.

Eighth grade winners are: First place, Peter Ostrowski, second place, Lauren Smith, Third place, Carol Waller. An outstanding poem award was awarded to Jack Bain.

Other eighth grade finalists were: Arden Howland, Susan Kaper, Ellen Whitfield, Steve Thompson, Janet Limanowski, Diana Fernandez, Vicki Cooper, Jerry Steinborn, Nancy Baird, Laurie Cosgrove and Betty Carter.

Bobette Zima, First prize winner, entered the following essay:

I am a girl and I am young. I am brown long hair and brown eyes. I am slim and sort of small. Who am I?

I am horses and animals. I am a summers day with a great big smile. I am a swimming pool on a hot summers day.

I am a bundled up person out in the snow making a big fat smiling snowman.

I am also the stars that shine in the sky above, and I am a mothers child.

Who am I? I am one of Gods many, many, many children. I am a person with many friends, and I am friendly. I am a nice person and sometimes I'm not. Who am I?

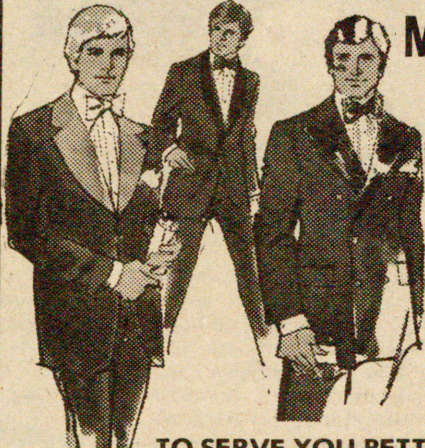

I am a sister, a daughter, a cousin, and a niece. Who am I? I am only a person, I am only me.

He needs your help.

There are a lot of things wrong with government and politics these days.

That's why it's important, when you find men whom you can support wholeheartedly, to give them your help, your work, your time.

Many of us—Republicans, Democrats, and independents alike—are proud Chuck Percy is our Senator.

Chuck Percy needs our help. His opponent is one of the toughest spokesmen of the city machine . . . and the only major machine candidate to survive the Primary. Desperate for a victory this Fall, the machine will probably concentrate in an all-out effort to grab the Senate seat.

Ambassadors plan a night of music

MARKHAM — Ambassadors For Christ has scheduled two exciting programs for this week-end! On Saturday night, April 15th the Messengers from Decatur, Ill., will be coming in and have charge of the evening at the Youth Center, 15801 S. Central Park Ave., Markham, Ill. (1 blk. north of Rt. 6 on Central Park Ave. and 1 blk. east of I-57).

The Messengers were so enthusiastic cally received when they appeared at the Center on March 4th that they were invited to return this Saturday. This group of five young men are all new converts and for the most part have been playing with rock groups before their conversion. They especially like to perform for youth groups. Dan Maxedon, leader of the Messengers, says that they have written Christ centered lyrics for some of the well-known secular songs.

This being talent night at the center, admission for students is 75¢ and for adults is $1. Sunday-April 16th is film night!

The importance of God in the life of a teenager forms the backdrop for a 30 minute color motion picture, entitled "My Favorite Phony", to be shown at 9 p.m. at the Reformed Church of Palos Heights, Ill., 6600 W. 127th St., Palos Heights.

A dramatic film, "My Favorite Phony" tells the story of Nick and Jody, typical space agers who place a lot more importance on themselves and the exciting world around them than in spiritual dimensions.

How they faced up to the need for a vital faith in God makes this a film of intense relevance to the world as it exists today. This is a Ken Anderson Production with studios at Winona Lake, Ind. There is no admission charge nor are tickets required but there will be opportunity to contribute to the Ambassadors' work in a free-will offering.

Girl hurt in auto accident

RICH TOWNSHIP — A 17 year old Oak Forest girl is listed in fair condition at South Suburban Hospital after being involved in an accident at I-57 and Sauk Trail, Friday, April 7, in which a 68 year old Chicago man was killed.

Debra Carter, 4448 W. Adelle Lane, Oak Forest, and a passenger Denise Daum, 3123 W. 177th St., Hazel Crest, were traveling south when a car driven by Larence McLean struck them head on. He was pronounced dead on arrival at South Suburban Hospital.

According to State Police, McLean was traveling north in the southbound lane.

Tinley Park State Trooper James Collier, who is investigating the case, said the victim's neck was severed by the car's steering column.

Some 'Noteable' work

OAK FOREST — The "Noteables", a group of twenty-five eighth grade girls from Laramie School in Oak Forest, received a first place rating at the District Choral Contest. The selections they sang were: "Sing A Rainbow", "Theme from Love Story", and "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing".

The contest judges commended them particularly on the spirit and feelings they expressed in the singing as well as vocal skills. Mrs. Helen Lists, who assists Mrs. Kerkstra as choral representative, chaperoned the girls at the contest in Crete.

The girls also sang at Oak Forest Hospital this year. Under the direction of Miss Linda Rapciak, the girls have performed at many school functions and have a repertoire ranging from old English madrigals to present day pop music.

Career conference set

PALOS HILLS — The fourth annual career conference sponsored by Moraine Valley Community College is scheduled for Wednesday, April 19, in Phase IA on the college campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., Palos Hills.

According to conference coordinators Mrs. Elizabeth Stiles, MVCC financial aid and placement director, and David Downs, counselor, representatives from more than 30 business firms, industries and institutions are expected.

"The purpose of the conference is two-fold," Downs explained. "First, MVCC students are given an opportunity to learn about careers from experts in the field. Second, MVCC spring career graduates are eligible for interviews with designated representatives."

Downs noted that 14 of the participating firms and institutions have indicated that they wish to schedule interviews for immediate placement.

The activities begin with a noon luncheon for participants. Conference hours are from 1:30 - 5:30 p.m. Profession sessions are scheduled throughout the conference. Assisting Mr. Stiles and Downs are counselors Kenneth Dockus, Mrs. Margaret Grip and Ernest Basile.

The profession sessions will include representatives from airline industries, veterinary medicine, pharmacy, medicine, law, personnel, advertising, recreation, nursing, dentistry, corrections and art.

The participants include Campbell Soup Company, Carson, Pirie, Scott and Company, School District 127 1/2, Continental Bank of Illinois, CPC International, Electro-Motive, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, First National Bank of Evergreen Park, Foodmaker, Inc., Garden School for the Handicapped, Gateway Transportation, Inc., Health Careers Council of Illinois.

Calvary Church

sets a record

OAK FOREST — Calvary Baptist Church, located at 149th and Laramie Streets, announced an all time high attendance record for March. The attendances for the four Sundays in March were 768, 914, 894 and 1,276, which averages 963 persons per Sunday.

The department attendances on the record-breaking day of 1,276 were crib nursery 25; toddlers 47; beginners 118; primary 208; junior first 82; junior second 83; junior third 60; junior high 191; senior high 204; college and career 15; adult 201; deaf 15; and Maranatha choir 27.

On this record-breaking Sunday, March 26, 552 people rode the church's ten busses from Oak Lawn, Crestwood, Harvey, Posen, Midlothian, Frankfort, Mokena, Tinley Park, Country Club Hills, Chicago Ridge, Worth, Orland Township, Blue Island and Oak Forest.

Calvary Baptist Church began with ten families in September, 1961. Pastor of the church is the Rev. Dr. William Schroeder. The church also has a youth pastor, Pastor Bob Wallace, a visitation pastor, Pastor Karl C. Gehrig and a missionary-pastor to the deaf, Pastor Keith Webster.

District gets aid

OAK FOREST — The board of commissioners of the Oak Forest Park District has announced receipt of $28,920 in matching federal funds for the purchase of land for outdoor recreation purposes. This reimbursement represents a 50 percent refund for the acquisition of Covent and Gingerwood Parks.

The eighth retail unit in the Pizza Pete chain of pizza restaurants will be opened in late May or early June by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley D. Brown (right) at 5333 W. 159th St., Oak Forest. Assisting at recent ground breaking ceremonies was Greg Tomko (left), president of the franchise operation.

Orland Cub pack feted

ORLAND PARK — Cub Scout Pack 368 held its third annual Blue and Gold dinner recently at the Orland Center School.

Guests at the dinner included Donald O'Connor, neighborhood Scout commissioner, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wiese, president of the Orland Park Lions Club, the pack's sponsoring institution, and George Brown, scout leader of the Calumet District. Entertainment was provided by the James Bay Group.

Wiese and O'Connor presented year pins to: Sharon Willeford, den mother, four year pin; Jim Larson, committee chairman, two year; Frank Stone, cubmaster, two year; Al Klienpost, Webelos Den 1 leader and committeeman, two year.

One year pins were presented to the following committee members: Bobbie Larson, Frank Shields, Carole Shields, Robert Jones, Betty Rusoski, Pat Frantz and Betty Price, den mother.

Chris Bay Anderson was introduced as the newest member by Cubmaster Stone.

Stone also presented awards to the following boys: Bob Cat, Fred DeVale; Wolf, Danny Wile, Wally Longfield and Danny Burns. A gold arrow for the Wolf badge was presented to Danny Gattis.

Webelos awards were given to Ed Croven, forrester; Mark Ashum and John Staszak, aquanaut; Patrick Sereda and Mike Cyrus, geologist; Wayne Speck, Tom DeBernardo, Mike Cyrus, sportsman; and John Staszak, craftsman.

Ted Stone and John Staszak were accepted by Boy Scout Troop 318.

The table decoration award was presented to Den 4 plus the traveling trophy. Mary Hill is the den mother.

The Scouts recently participated in various physical feats during the Olympics which included balancing board, cotton ball throw, high jump mark, running races and basketball toss. Scout winners were Pat Sabin, Scott Husky and Steve Stipp. Webelos winners were Bill Lindau, Larry Schultz and John Staszak.

Special thanks was extended to Sharon Willeford, Blue and Gold chairman, and her helpers, Girl Scout Troop 384 and leader Mrs. Esther Switzer, and Troop 180 and leader Mrs. Bacci.

New teachers at Oak Forest

OAK FOREST — Three new student teachers have been added to the Oak Forest High School teaching staff for the current marking period.

Two student teachers, Phyllis Babcock and Jane Sobzak will be working in the foreign language department.

Miss Babcock will be student teaching German under Robert Schmid for the next six weeks. Her second field is chemistry at the University of Illinois at Champaign. She will also help with the school's German Club.

Also from the University of Illinois, Miss Sobzak will do student teaching in Spanish under Mrs. Nancy Erickson. She will also help with the Spanish Club.

The third new teacher is Sandy Green from Northern Illinois University. She will be working with Mrs. Joann Jeffers in the home economics department for nine weeks.

ALL FAMOUS QUALITY TOOLS FROM

the pace-setter

This versatile JAK model Perfect Host barbeque is found on more patios than all other gas grills combined! Designed for average family usage, it will, however, out-perform the average grill and with unbeatable results.

Crafted from heavy-duty cast aluminum, it won't ever rust. And you get that tangy "outdoor barbeque taste" because the flavor really comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on the radiant long life Charm-Roks.

Charmglow gives you complete control, flexibility of use and reliability of performance. So why buy a follower, when you can buy the leader!
